

NIGGER PILL

This report is dedicated to those mighty goats who fight valiantly for the freedom to speak their mind.

It is often said that there is one human race: homo sapiens. However, this is untrue. DNA evidence suggests there are in fact 4 different races of men:

1. Aryans (Europeans and Middle-easterners)
2. Negroids (Africans and Arabians)
3. Mongoloids (Asians and Ameri-Indians)
4. Australoids (Melanesians and Papuans)

In the following diagram, you can see the four main branches and when they genetically diverged. Note the the diagram should not imply that any one race is more ancient than any other; only that one race is further separated from another in terms of genetic similarity.

Of course, the races of men could be further subdivided. In this link, the genetic data can easily be further subdivided into additional races. As shone in the above diagram, 15 sub-races are easily separated from the four human species, with no apparent limit of divergence yet discovered in the data.

However, the most interesting discovery from analyzing the DNA evidence is not that this evidence supports the idea that men can be divided into different races. Rather, the DNA evidence suggests that the different races of man are more appropriately divided into different human species, not different human races. In other words, Aryans, Mongolids, Negroids, and Australoids are actually different species!

But if the data from DNA research suggests humans should be classified into different species, then why does science tell us that we are all the same species?

Actually, science does not say we are the same species. The idea that we are the same species was an erroneous report which was later changed when new evidence came to light. Watch how the story changes:

The Human Genome Project announces in a vague press release that scientifically there's no such thing as race. No extensive study is published. Questions about the political motivation behind this stunt arise.

In contrast to concerns about the project's potential to support racist ideologies and practices, its advocates argued that the HGDP would prove once and for all that discrete biological 'races' do not exist (Gannett, 2001; Kohn, 1995); that 'race' was a social and not a valid scientific construct. According to Kohn (1995), scientists involved with the HGP claimed that, far from contributing to racism, the project would 'make a significant contribution to the elimination of racism' (p. 37) by demonstrating the biological unity and genetic heterogeneity of different population groups. Indeed, at the public announcement of the completion of a draft map of the human genome, this promise was partly kept.

On 26 June 2000, Frank Collins, leader of the publicly funded Human Genome Project, and Craig Venter, Head and Chief Scientist of the privately funded company, Celera Genomics, met at the White House with President Bill Clinton to announce their historic milestone to the world.

The method used by Celera has determined the genetic code of five individuals. We have sequenced from the genomes of three females and two males who have identified themselves as Hispanic, Asian, Caucasian, or African American. We did this initial sampling, not in an exclusionary way, but out of respect for the diversity that is America, and to help illustrate that the concept of race has no genetic or scientific basis. In the five Celera genomes there was no way to tell one ethnicity from another.

The head of the Human Genome Project recants his initial findings in the wake of new evidence, but maintains his ideological position.

Finding said to show “race isn’t real” scrapped

Sept. 3, 2007
Special to World Science

A renowned scientist has backed off a finding that he, joined by others, long touted as evidence for what they called a proven fact: that racial differences among people are imaginary.

That idea—entrenched today in academia, and often used to castigate scholars who study race—has drawn much of its scientific backing from a finding that all people are 99.9 percent genetically alike.

But geneticist Craig Venter, head of a research team that reported that figure in 2001, backed off it in an announcement this week. He said human variation now turns out to be over seven times greater than was thought, though he's not changing his position on race.

Some other scientists have disputed the earlier figure for years as underestimating human variation. Venter, instead, has cited the number as key evidence that race is imaginary. He once declared that “no serious scholar” doubts that, though again, some recent studies have contradicted it.

Geneticist Armand Marie Leroi of Imperial College London wrote recently that a recognition of race could in the future help society protect endangered races. The more common past practice was for societies to oppress other races, which is largely what led some to try to banish any recognition of race altogether.

Thus, views like Leroi's have been largely marginalized. The race-isn't-real doctrine prevails, typically portrayed by backers as settled fact that only racists or their dupes could question. It “can be something close to professional suicide” for researchers to even suggest race exists, psychiatrist Sally Satel wrote in the Dec. 2001-Jan. 2002 issue of the magazine Policy Review.

Craig Venter

The field of genomics is much more extensive than just the Human Genome Project. As such, the field has gone from denying the existence of race to assume race as a biological reality.

Now, eight years later, Abecasis's idea—dubbed the 1000 Genomes Project—is coming to an end. They exceeded their goal, having sequenced over 2500 human genomes from 26 distinct groups of people around the world. (The collaboration's last two papers are in Nature today.) Sequencing technology has improved by leaps and bounds since 1000 Genomes began, and the price for a whole genome sequence has fallen to a few thousand dollars. At least in the scientific community, trepidation about studying the genetic differences between groups of people has largely disappeared. In fact, many consider it the most important work they could possibly do. As the University of California, San Francisco sociologist Catherine Bliss puts it in her book Race Decoded, genomics has gone from being a “race-free” science to being a “race-positive” one.

In just 15 years of scientific advancement, they have gone from denying that differences in race exist to demanding that differences in race exist.

However, if the same standards of scientific rigor were to be applied to homo sapiens as is applied to the rest of the animal kingdom, then it is not only likely humans would be classified into multiple different subspecies, but that they would be properly classified into different species as well.

These are two very different species, both closely related and each capable of interbreeding effectively, but each is a part of distinct genetic, phenotypical, and behavioral groups. One is a jaguar, and the other is a leopard

Science classifies these animals as six different species, each closely related and all capable of interbreeding effectively, but each a part of distinct genetic, phenotypical, and behavioral groups.

FIXATION INDEX

In order to classify creatures into different species, scientists do not only rely upon phenotypical and behaviors classification, but also genetic classifications. To classify a species genetically, scientists created a Fixation Index (FST). The FST is a measure of the genetic distance between population by noting the presence or absence of particular genetic markers. The higher the number, the greater the genetic difference.

The FST between two different chimpanzee species, the common chimpanzee and the bonobo is 0.10

The FST between two different gorilla species, Gorilla gorilla and Gorilla beringe is 0.04

The FST between humans and the different species, Neanderthals is 0.08

The FST between humans and the different species, homo erectus is 0.17

The FST between Aryans (British) and Negroids (African Bantu) is 0.23

The FST between Europeans and sub-Saharan Africans is 0.153

The FST between North American Wolves and the different species, Coyote, is 0.153

"But aren't species defined as 'the largest group of organisms in which any two individuals of the appropriate sexes or mating types can produce fertile offspring'? Thus, Aryans and Negroids should not be considered different species, right???"

-Actually, many different species can mate in the wild to produce offspring:

Coywolf

The coyote and the wolf are two very distinct species, but capable of interbreeding.

Liger

The lion and the tiger are two very distinct species, but capable of interbreeding.

Wholphin

The dolphin and the false killer whale are two very distinct species, but capable of interbreeding.

Leopon

The leopard and the lion are two very distinct species, but capable of interbreeding.

Zebroid

The zebra and the horse are two very distinct species, but capable of interbreeding.

Grolar Bear

The polar bear and the grizzly are two very distinct species, but capable of interbreeding.

The fact remains that if we used the same standards of taxonomic classification we use for other animals, Homo sapiens would have four different species, each with a variety of different subspecies.

So why is this information so important? Why is it so important to understand that humans ought to be classified into different species?

The reason this is so important is because different species display different behaviors. Let me repeat that: different species display different behaviors.

Example: Tigers are a different species from lions. Not only are the phenotypical markings different (orange/black stripes for tigers, tan coat for lions, with tigers being much larger of the two), and not only are the genotypical markings different between these different species, but the behaviors of these species are quite different as well. Tigers are solitary and hunt at night. Lions keep to a pride and hunt during the day.

Different species display different behaviors

Unless one acknowledges this vital fact, one may have a difficult time understanding the world and the reasons why certain races of men display certain types of behavior. It must be understood that the actions taken to guide or correct the behaviors of one human species are unlikely to be effective when used on other human species. When dealing with different species of men, different laws are necessary to account for these different behaviors. For instance, while the threat of law might function to prevent criminal actions within an Aryan society, this same deterrent may fail to be effective when used within societies of another race. As you will see in the upcoming pages, just as different laws are necessary to curb criminal behaviors of different human species, different educational system are also required to properly educate the next generations of each of the different human races.

In summary, there exists in this world four distinct human species which are closely related and capable of interbreeding effectively, but each of which is a part of distinct genetic, phenotypical, and behavioral group. Understanding that there exist different human species (each with a variety of subspecies) helps us to understand that these varying species and subspecies will inevitably display different behaviors, and often in predictable ways. As different species, we can be expected to respond differently, even when exposed to the same stimuli (stimuli such as laws, social norms and education), and these varying responses will be confusing and seem quite irrational to those of a different species unless one first understands this most basic rule:

Different species display different behaviors.

In the last part of this section, we will look analyze the behaviors the races. Those belonging to the Aryan race have had their heritage hidden from them by the elite banking jews. As part of this deception, Aryans have been trained to misrepresent the behaviors of the other races. To illustrate this, we will take a quick look at some examples of Aryan behavior, followed by a longer exposition of behaviors from the Negroid race.

Aryans tend to be intelligent with the ability to favor long-term planning over immediate gratification. They are patient and have the ability to endure great suffering before reacting violently. They have a strong work-ethic. They work well as a group because Aryans have great compassion and empathy for others. Lastly, they are very trusting of other people. The reason for their trusting attitude is because they, themselves, are trust-worthy. Here is a great example of Aryans demonstrating their trustworthiness and empathy for their fellow man:

Things Aryans do:

An Aryan's empathy allows him to form trusting-bonds which result in kind and generous behaviors toward others, and this makes an Aryan the strongest when he is with his friends and fellow Aryan allies. This ability of Aryans to empathize with others to form these strong bonds is the Aryan's greatest strength, but it is also their greatest weakness. This is because it makes them easy prey for shysters, liars and smooth-tongued scam artists, who view Aryans as little more than an easy mark. One of the hardest and most painful lessons for an Aryan to learn is how to distrust people.

The trusting nature of the Aryan has allowed non-Aryans to infiltrate into the great civilizations they have built, corrupt them, and then eventually bring about their ruin. To illustrate, most people know the ancient Aryans settled in Europe and built many of the greatest civilizations the world had ever known, but few people know that Aryans had also settled as far west as Japan, whose original occupants were known as the fair-skinned, blue-eyed Ainu people. The civilization the Ainu had built was destroyed and they were later almost genocided entirely by semitic invaders (LINK).

Ancient Egypt: Coffin opening reveals Tjuyu has BLONDE hair

Likewise, ancient Aryans also settled as far south as Africa and built the great civilizations surrounding the pyramids of Egypt, whose rulers were blue-eyed, pale-skinned, and blonde-haired. But these civilizations were destroyed by the negroid invaders and the Aryans were later genocided entirely.

Again, few people know about the archeological evidence which demonstrates that ancient Aryans were the first to colonize North America, long before the semitic Amerindians arrived, and that the Amerindians, whom we call "native" Americans, destroyed the ancient civilizations built by the Aryans and then genocided them from the continent (Link).

Again, the ancient Aryans built the civilizations of the old world, including ancient Greece. When most people imagine an ancient Greek individual, they picture the dark-haired, olive skinned Greeks of today, but the primary sources for the Trojan War describes the ancient Greek soldiers as having blonde hair and lightly colored eyes. These civilizations, like all of the others, were destroyed and their people genocided, leaving behind only a mixed-race of darker men.

One of the greatest examples to illustrate Aryan behavior comes from the founder of the Iranian Empire (Aryan Empire): Cyrus the Great. His life story, an invaluable read to gain a better understanding Aryan racial characteristics, was recorded in Xenophon's historical account entitled Cyropaedia. Link

A second defining trait possessed by Aryans is the fact they have managed to preserve a high level of IQ. Here is a graphic showing the results of IQ testing performed on white Americans (primarily Aryans), black Americans (mixed race), and the African species.

In contrast to what is shown in the adjacent graphic, it is important to note that for one to be considered 'mentally retarded' by Aryan standards, the threshold is currently listed as an IQ of less than 70. However, until very recently, the actual threshold for being considered 'retarded' is having an IQ of less than 85.

Why was 85 selected as the threshold? This number was chosen because once a population's average IQ drops below 85, they lose the ability to satisfactorily govern themselves. In other words, a lower IQ results in an individual who behaves differently than someone with a higher IQ. If an entire population has a low IQ, then different laws are required to control for the different behaviors displayed by this low-IQ population. Low IQ populations can not survive in an environment of freedom and self-government, like that which is designed for Aryans. Instead, low IQ populations are safest and live best under a totalitarian form of government.

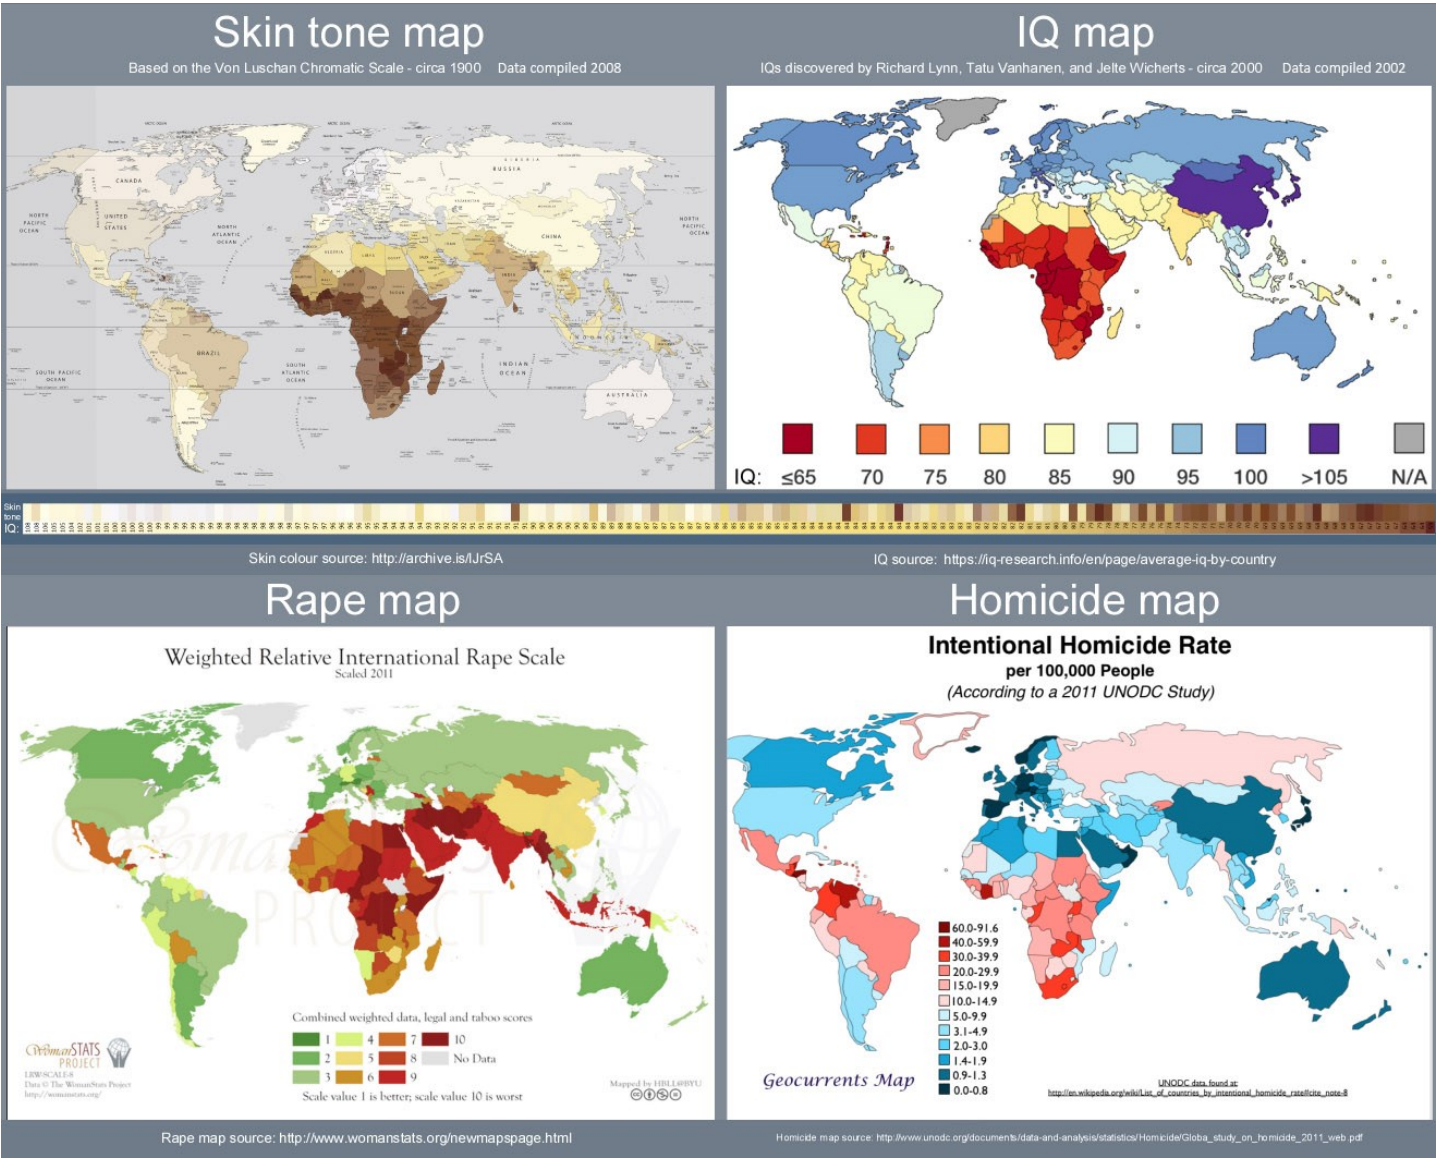

IQ scientists understood that a vast majority of negroids ought to properly be considered 'mentally retarded', and as such, most negroids ought to be considered unfit for equitable citizenship within any free Aryan state. However, this inconvenient truth, had it gotten out, would have brought a catastrophic end to the jewish-led African-American civil rights movement of the '60s. To preempt this from happening, the threshold for "mental retardation" was quickly and silently adjusted:

16 With the upper ceiling on mental retardation reduced from an I.Q. of 85 to an I.Q. of 70, far fewer Americans are today diagnosed as "mentally retarded" than before. Although the lower I.Q. ceiling for mental retardation was agreed upon in part to avoid applying stigmatizing labels to so many people whose intelligence was below average, the changed I.Q. ceiling ironically had the effect of cutting off from social services such as special education many people who would have otherwise benefited from the extra support. Scholars have emphasized that because of the possibility of testing error, a person with an I.Q. of up to 75 should be considered "retarded" if the diagnosis is necessary to ensure access to special education or other assistance. See, e.g., H. J. Grossman, ed., Manual on Terminology in Mental Retardation (Washington, D. C.: American Association on Mental Deficiency, 1977).

Abstract

Wicherts, Dolan, and van der Maas (2009) contend that the average IQ of sub-Saharan Africans is about 80. A critical evaluation of the studies presented by WDM shows that many of these are based on unrepresentative elite samples. We show that studies of 29 acceptably representative samples on tests other than the Progressive Matrices give a sub-Saharan Africa IQ of 69; studies of the most satisfactory representative samples on the Standard Progressive Matrices give an IQ of 66; studies of 23 acceptably representative samples on the Colored Progressive Matrices give an IQ of 71. The international studies of mathematics, science, and reading give a sub-Saharan African IQ of 66. The four data sets can be averaged to give an IQ of 68 as the best reading of the IQ in sub-Saharan Africa.

It should be noted that 'skin tone' does not cause low IQ, but the correlation between these two features is clear: both skin tone and intelligence are racial features; that is: they are genetic. Since both skin tone and intelligence are derived from one's ancestry, it should not surprise us that they correlate with such a high degree of accuracy:

“In a highly developed information society and a highly educated society such as Japan, the people require politics that bravely faces problems. In the United States, because there are a considerable number of blacks, Puerto Ricans and Mexicans, the [intellectual] level is lower.”

-Prime Minister of Japan Yashuhiro Nakasone, 1986

In general, skin tone and low IQ both correlate to low-quality living conditions:

Maine

Best: Lowest violent crime rate

Maine ranks as the safest state in the country, as there were just 124 violent crimes reported for every 100,000 residents — less than a third of the national rate.

Worst: Least diverse

According to the latest Census data, 94.4 percent of Maine's population is white, beating out nearby Vermont and New Hampshire as the least diverse states.

California

Best: Diversity — Considered a “minority majority” state (meaning there is no single ethnic group or race that makes up the majority of the population), California has earned the title of the most diverse state in the United States.

Worst: Quality of life — However, it was also accused of having the worst quality of life based on a variety of social and environmental factors including sense of community and air pollution. Maybe that's why in recent years, more people have been leaving California than moving there...

A very common misconception is that IQ is determined by economic factors. However, while economic factors can play a small role in intelligence, an individual's racial traits play a significantly larger role.

In the adjacent graphic, assuming median income is $61k, the difference in SAT scores is only 78 points between whites with low incomes versus those with high incomes. With an average white SAT score of 1052, this implies economic factors provide only a 7% variance to an individual's SAT score, whereas 93% is due to genetics.

To further demonstrate the important role played by genetics, notice that when economic factors are segregated by race, then in every single income bracket, the SAT scores for blacks is LOWER than for whites.

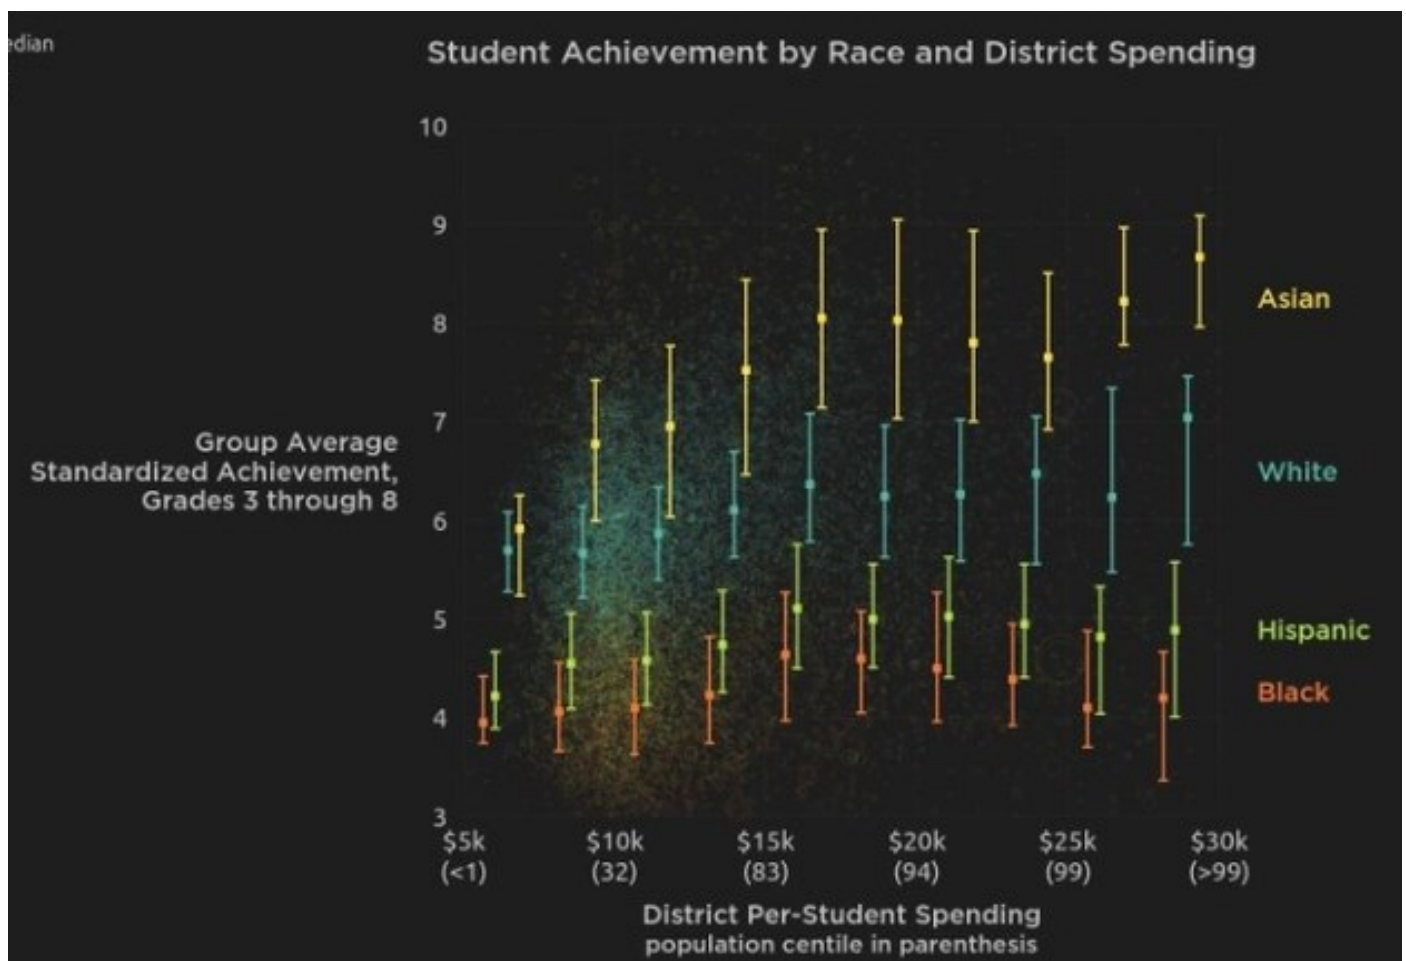

At All Family Income Levels, There is a Persisting Racial Gap in SAT Scores

But don't African-Americans fail because they have poor schools?

Few people know that in 1985, a federal district judge believed African-Americans failed because they had poor schools. To remedy this, the judge seized control over the Kansas City, Missouri, School District (KCMSD) on the ground that it was an unconstitutionally segregated district with dilapidated facilities. He claims this was the reason the students performed poorly. In what would come to be called the Kansas City Experiment, the judge ordered the state to spend nearly $2 billion over the next 12 years to bring student test scores up to the national norms. This money brought in better teachers by offering higher salaries, provided a better learning environment with better labs, better student-resources, and the best student-teacher ratio in the country, at 12 students to each teacher.

But the results were an utter failure. Tests scores did not rise, and the black-white intelligence gap did not diminish. The only answer the Kansas City Experiment provided was that money was not the answer.

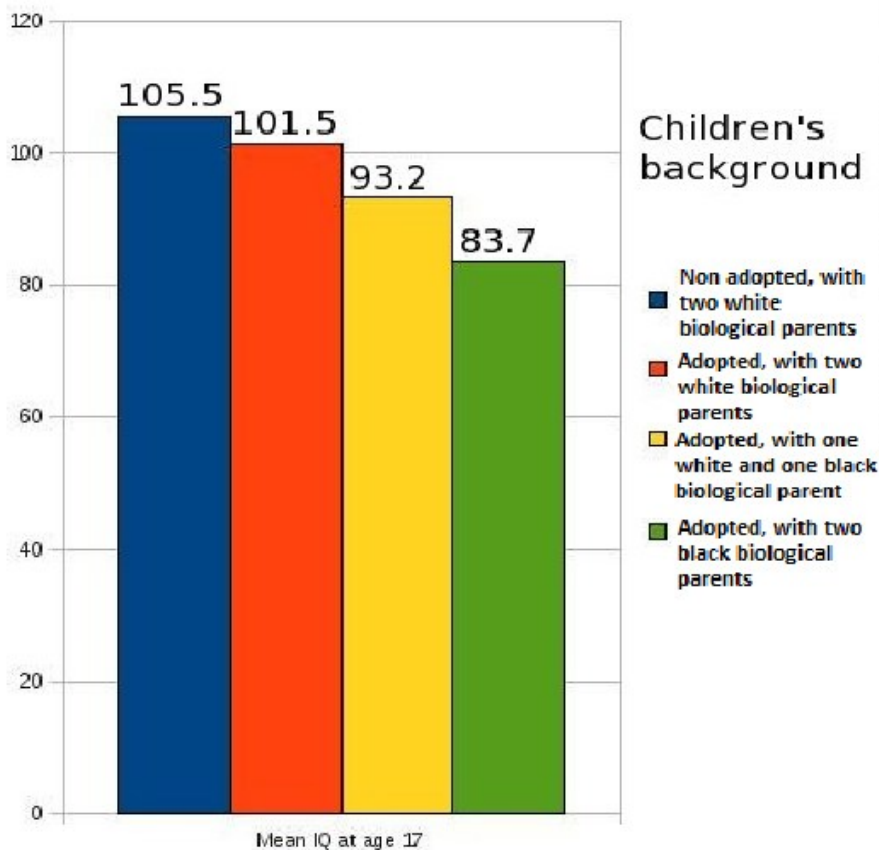

White students in the poorest school districts outscored blacks and Hispanics in the richest ones. The test scores for blacks and Hispanics did not increase in the wealthiest districts, whereas whites in the wealthy districts showed modest improvements.

Ok, maybe it is not the school district that matters. Maybe what matters is the child's home environment?

-Actually, few people know about the 1976 Minnesota Transracial adoption study which tested white children, black children, and interracial (white/black) children adopted into advantaged white families. In this way, the study controlled for family influence since all children were provided a similar upbringing. The data proves race is the predominate factor determining IQ:

THE MINNESOTA TRANSRACIAL ADOPTION STUDY

The Minnesota Transracial Adoption Study examined the IQ test scores of 130 black/interracial children adopted by advantaged white families. The aim of the study was to determine the contribution of genetic factors to the poor performance of black children on IQ tests as compared to white children. By examining the cognitive ability and school performance of both black and white children adopted into white families, the study intended to separate genetic factors from rearing conditions as causal influences in the gap. The initial study was published in 1976 by Sandra Scarr and Richard A. Weinberg. A follow up study was published in 1992 by Richard Weinberg, Sandra Scarr and Irwin D. Waldman.

Chart 6
Average IQ Scores for the Various Races

Source: THIRD UNABRIDGED EDITION OF Race, Evolution, and Behavior (pp. P-15 to P-16, 135-137, 273-280).

The chart shows the mean IQ of black, white, and mixed-race black/white children adopted by upper-middle-class white families in Minnesota, and the mean IQ of non-adopted white children brought up in an upper-middle-class white family. The average IQ of the adopting parents was more than 1 standard deviation above the population mean of 100. It was previously known that adoption into upper-middle class white families has a positive influence on the IQ and school performance of white children. The difference in IQ scores between the adopting parents and their biological children would generally be explained in genetics by regression toward the mean.

The adopting parents of 12 of the interracial children wrongly believed that their adopted children had two black parents. The average IQ of these 12 children was not significantly different from the scores of the 56 interracial children correctly classified by their adoptive parents as having one black and one white parent.

The data is sourced from the latest reanalysis of the Minnesota Transracial Adoption Study by John Loehlin in his book: "the Handbook of Human Intelligence(2000)". http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Minnesota_Transracial_Adoption_Study

SES CATEGORIES

Upper. Both mothers and fathers of students in this group had graduate or professional training and held professional jobs. The level of education and the level of occupation are virtually identical for both the parents of these students.

Upper-Middle. Fathers in this group tend to be professional workers, but mothers are white-collar workers or homemakers. Fathers of these students are also likely to hold graduate or professional degrees, while mothers tend to have associate or bachelor's degrees, but no graduate or professional training.

Middle. Fathers of students in this group tend to hold white-collar nonprofessional jobs, while mothers tend to hold a mix of blue-collar and white-collar nonprofessional jobs. Additionally, fathers of students in this group have some college experience, with many holding an associate's degree. Mothers tend to have less education than fathers, but at least a high school diploma. Students in this and each of the higher SES groups reported average to above average family income when they were in high school.

Lower-Middle. Both mothers and fathers of students in this group tend to be blue-collar workers and are not college educated. Many have less than a high school education. Additionally, students in this group described their family income when they were in high school as below average.

Court Bans Use of I.Q. Tests for Blacks for Any Purpose in California State Schools: Press Release by Law Offices of Public Advocates, Inc., San Francisco, California.

Dent, H.; And Others

Negro Educational Review, v38 n2-3 p190-99 Apr-Jul 1987

The use of standardized I.Q. tests for Blacks has been banned in California State schools. This court settlement culminated 15 years of legal action on a class action suit filed by Black parents for their children who had been disproportionately assigned to classes for the mentally retarded. (VM)

Where have we seen a similar gap before?

Rushton & Jensen (2005) write that, in the United States, self-identified blacks and whites have been the subjects of the greatest number of studies. They state that the black-white IQ difference is about 15 to 18 points or 1 to 1.1 standard deviations (SDs), which implies that between 11 and 16 percent of the black population have an IQ above 100 (the general population median). The black-white IQ difference is largest on those components of IQ tests that best represent the general intelligence factor g .^[1] The 1996 APA report "Intelligence: Knowns and Unknowns" and the 1994 editorial statement "Mainstream Science on Intelligence" gave more or less similar estimates.^{[2][3]} Roth et al. (2001), in a review of the results of a total of 6,246,729 participants on other tests of cognitive ability or aptitude, found a difference in mean IQ scores between blacks and whites of 1.1 SD. Consistent results were found for college and university application tests such as the Scholastic Aptitude Test (N = 2.4 million) and Graduate Record Examination (N = 2.3 million), as well as for tests of job applicants in corporate sections (N = 0.5 million) and in the military (N = 0.4 million).^[4]

The thickness of the supragranular layer (outside layer) of the Negroid brain is 15% thinner, and its convolutions are fewer and more simple on average when compared to the brain of an Aryan.

Imagine life with 7% less cranial capacity and no frontal lobe.

The Ancient Greeks understood.

Ok, maybe Negroids really do have low IQ, but certainly economic factors must play a large role in black crime, right?

-The reality is that just as genetics determines IQ, the different genetics of different species results in different behaviors performed. Negroids tend to display criminal behaviors. Moreover. Economic factors seem to have almost no impact on their criminal behaviors. For instance:

Although African-Americans make up only a small portion of the population, they commit a much larger proportion of the crime. The data displayed on the previous page has allowed us to isolate and eliminate socio-economic factors as a cause for these criminal behaviors. As a result, it appears that the cause of such behaviors is due to inherited genetic factors.

Here are a list of additional inconvenient facts:

1. The more violent the crime, the more heavily Negroids tend to be overrepresented in it.
(see above chart)
2. Negroids are more likely than Aryans to bully people at school Link to study
3. Negroids are also more impulsive than Aryans. Link to studies: Link1 Link2
4. Impulsive behavior predicts criminality and poverty even after controlling for IQ and parental socio-economic status. Link
5. Negroids also score higher than Aryans on measures of psychopathic personality. Link

6. Another feature shared by both Blacks and criminals is low levels of stress. Criminologists have explained the association between low levels of stress and crime by positing that the level of anxiety, stress, and nervousness which accompany criminal attempts would act as a deterrent from committing the crime. Therefore, having a less active stress response would predispose people towards criminal behavior. It has also been shown that having a slow heart beat and a low level of cortisol are both biological markers of having a low level of stress. Both of these facts have not only been linked to criminality, but are also dominate traits found in Negroids. Moreover, cortisol also acts to block the effects of testosterone. Since negroids have lower levels of cortisol, this implies higher levels of testosterone. Testosterone is linked to aggressive behaviors, which has also been shown to contribute to criminal behaviors.

In conclusion, several aspects of negroid personality, including higher levels of aggression, impulsivity, and psychopathy, as well as lower levels of stress, likely predispose them to criminal behaviors. The genes which predispose them toward low IQ also predispose them towards low self-control, which in turn predisposes negroids toward crime, poverty, and single parenthood. Or in other words...

Different species display different behaviors.

Exacerbating this problem even further is the fact that negroids are more likely than Aryans to have low repeat versions of the androgen receptor gene. In the following linked study, it has been demonstrated that those incarcerated for both rape and murder had the shortest average number of CAG repeats followed by murderers, followed by rapists. The non-criminal controls had the longest CAG repeats. Link to study

In addition to this, the most well-established crime-related gene is the mono-amine oxidase A gene (MAO-A). This gene is involved in aggression, impulsivity, and crime, and it is known to differ racially:

Abstract

There has been a great deal of research examining the link between a polymorphism in the promoter region of the MAOA gene and antisocial phenotypes. The results of these studies have consistently revealed that low activity MAOA alleles are related to antisocial behaviors for males who were maltreated as children. Recently, though, some evidence has emerged indicating that a rare allele of the MAOA gene—that is, the 2-repeat allele—may have effects on violence that are independent of the environment. The current study builds on this research and examines the association between the 2-repeat allele and shooting and stabbing behaviors in a sample of males drawn from the National Longitudinal Study of Adolescent Health. Analyses revealed that African-American males who carry the 2-repeat allele are significantly more likely than all other genotypes to engage in shooting and stabbing behaviors and to report having multiple shooting and stabbing victims. The limitations of the study are discussed and suggestions for future research are offered.

The 2-repeat allele of the MAOA gene is 9x more prevalent among African Americans than White Americans.
The 2-repeat allele of MAOA confers and increased risk for shooting and stabbing behaviors independent of environment.

Negroids are more dangerous than Aryans. This is a scientific truth.

Genetics does not just apply to the behaviors of the various human species. Take dog species, for instance:

"In the city of Philadelphia, the increasing number of bold and daring crimes committed by Negroes [since 1890] has focused the city on this subject. There is a widespread feeling that something is wrong with a race that is responsible for so much crime, and that strong remedies are called for. One has but to visit the corridors of the public buildings, when the courts are in session, to realize the part played in law-breaking by the Negro."

Over an 86 year period, the KKK killed around 0.77 people per week, the majority of whom were accused of cattle theft, murder or rape, and therefore, should be considered a terrorist threat.

According to 2013 FBI crime statistics, blacks kill 7.87 white people per week, and over 43 black people per week. But blacks in America are not considered a terrorist threat.

Fig. 5: Multiples of White Arrest Rate in NYC, 2014

Data source: NYPD, Crime and Enforcement Activity in New York City

One last thing should be noted about the data involving Aryan crime rates: the current racial classification system specifically does not account for either Aryan descent or skin tone; instead it uses a very subjective and vague qualification system based upon an individual's racial self-identification. That is to say: many who are classified as "white" are not actually Aryans, and this can lead to distortions in the data. For example, the amount of crimes committed by "whites" in the above graphics are disproportionately high, and that the criminal behaviors of actual Aryans is much lower than the above data suggests. This is demonstrated by the following examples, which consists of several "white" criminals:

“Ok, so blacks do have low IQ, and their genetics cause them to display very violent and criminal behaviors. However, it is still the white man’s fault because the white man colonized Africa and kept the black man down, right?”

-Actually, this is a false belief. The negroid species has always displayed violent behaviors and they have always demonstrated a low IQ. Here are quotes from Arabs and Persians on the characteristics of Africans long before any European colonialism occurred:

“To the south there is no civilization in the proper sense. There are only humans who are closer to dumb animals than to rational beings. They live in thickets and caves and eat unprepared grain. They frequently eat each other. They cannot be considered human beings.” The only people who accept slavery are the Negroes, owing to their low degree of humanity and proximity to the animal. All others who accept the status of slave only do so as a means to attaining high rank, power, or wealth. The Negro has very little in him that could be considered human.” -Historian Ibn Khaldun (d.1406), Muqaddimah

“The negro does not differ from an animal in anything except that his hands have been lifted from the earth. Many have seen that the ape is more capable of being trained than the negro, and more intelligent.” Nasir al-Din al Tusi (1201-1274), Tasawwurat

“The Africans are people distant from the standards of humanity. Their nature is that of wild animals. They are extremely black. Among the Sudanese, there are people who steal each other’s children and sell them to merchants when the latter arrive.” -Persian geography, Hudud al-Alam, 982 AD

“Africans are the worst of men and the most vicious of creatures in both character and temperament. They are the least intelligent of mankind, and the least capable of understanding the consequences of actions, and despite their dimness, their boundless stupidity, their obtuseness, their crude perceptions and their evil dispositions, they still make long speeches.” -Al Jahiz (d.868 AD), Kitab al-Burkhala.

“Of the Buija tribe, they do not marry one another, and so the child does not know his own father, and they eat people. As for the Zanj tribe, they have little intelligence.” Al-Muqaddasi

“Merriment dominates the negro because of his defective brain.” - Al-Masudi

“The people of Iraq do not come out blonde and of white coloring, such has from the wombs of the Slavs, nor are they overdone in the womb until they are burned so the child comes out black, malodorous, stinking, and crinkly-haired, with uneven limbs, deficient minds, and depraved passions, such as the Zanj, the Somali, and the other negros. No, the Iraqis are neither half-baked dough nor burned crust, but between the two.” Ibn al-Faqih

“The Zanj are so uncivilized that they have no notion of a natural death. If a man has not been killed by a weapon, they view the death as suspicious and believe him to have been poisoned.” -Abu Rayhan al-Biruni

"Since the dawn of history the negro has owned the continent of Africa - rich beyond the dream of poet's fancy, crunching acres of diamonds beneath his bare black feet. Yet he never picked one up from the dust until a white man showed to him its glittering light. His land swarmed with powerful and docile animals, yet he never dreamed a harness, cart, or sled. A hunter by necessity, he never made an axe, spear, or arrowhead worth preserving beyond the moment of its use. He lived as an ox, content to graze for an hour. In a land of stone and timber he never sawed a foot of lumber, carved a block, or built a house save of broken sticks and mud. With league on league of ocean strand and miles of inland seas, for four thousand years he watched their surface ripple under the wind, heard the thunder of the surf on his beach, the howl of the storm over his head, gazed on the dim blue horizon calling him to worlds that lie beyond, and yet he never dreamed a sail."

—Charles Darwin

CHAPTER XII.

INHOSPITALITY TO STRANGERS, BEGGING, EXTORTION, AND ROBBERY IN NEGROLAND.

"GRATITUDE with the African is not even a sense of prospective favor. He looks upon a benefit as the weakness of his benefactor and his own strength; consequently he will not recognize even the hand that feeds him. He will, perhaps, lament for a night the death of a parent or a child, but the morrow will find him thoroughly comforted. The name of hospitality, except for interested motives, is unknown to him. What will you give me? is his first question. To a stranger entering a village the worst hut is assigned, and, if he complain, the answer is that he can find encamping-ground outside. Instead of treating him like a guest, which the Arab Bedouin would hold to be a point of pride, of honor, his host compels him to pay and prepay every article; otherwise he might starve in the midst of plenty." — Burton's Africa, page 490.

The African way!"Gibs me dat!"

"It is hard to make them feel that the shedding of human blood is a great crime; they must be conscious that it is wrong, but, having been accustomed to bloodshed from infancy, they are remarkably callous to the enormity of the crime of destroying human life." — Livingstone's Africa, page 217.

MURDER, RAPE AND TORTURE OF AUSTRALIAN ABORIGINAL CHILDREN

The early infanticidal childrearing mode of Australian Aboriginals has been arguably the most abusive and neglectful of all tribal cultures. It is possible that the poor environment of the Australian desert is partially responsible for their lack of progress in childrearing, though New Guinea was nearly as stuck as they are in early infanticidal mode childrearing and they have had a far better environment than Australia. The origins of the very violent personalities of Aboriginals are, of course, in no way caused by genetic differences, only developmental. Thousands of Aboriginals have been removed from their parents and brought up by modern city parents and they turn out to have personalities indistinguishable from others in their adoptive families.

The custom of raping Aboriginal children, eating "every second child" and making the older children also eat them is termed "a quite favorable picture" by Roheim.⁹⁶ Mothers regularly forced their children to eat their newborn siblings "in the belief that the strength of the first child would be doubled by such a procedure."⁹⁷ Sometimes the fetus would be "pulled out by the head, roasted and eaten by the mother and the children" and sometimes "a big boy would be killed by the father by being beaten on the head" and given to the mother to eat.⁹⁸ Since most newborns in the Pacific area, from Hawaii to Tahiti, were murdered by their mothers,⁹⁹ and since their siblings were forced to participate in the killings, all adults had Killer Mother alters implanted in their amygdalan fear networks which they were compelled to reenact. Hippler says Australian children "attacked infants unceasingly" while "the mother rarely intervenes... Children's attacks become so common that one often hears adults saying 'Don't kill the baby.' But no one interferes and the child is increasingly made subject to violence and stress."¹⁰⁰ He also says "children are abused by their mother and others...routinely brutally...jerked roughly, slapped or shaken...verbally abusive using epithets such as 'you shit' [frightened by] a dangerous world full of demons, though in reality the real dangers are from his caretakers...children are terrified to leave the presence of their mothers."¹⁰¹ Fusion with the Killer Mother is guaranteed by all these practices, plus the mother's choking the infant with her milk during nursing, the constant masturbation by mother of her children's penis and vagina while she lies on top of them, twisting and pinching them as we saw was the practice in New Guinea.¹⁰²

The mutilation of young girls' vaginas is also practiced by the Aboriginals, "in which old men roll emu feathers with a loop of hair. This device is put into the vagina and then removed, pulling away a large part of the womb. The rest of the womb is then cut horizontally and vertically with a stone knife. When this wound is healed, the girl is then circumcised and made to have intercourse with many young men. The mix of blood and semen is collected and given to frail tribesmen as a fortifying elixir."¹⁰³ Again, the fusion with the Killer Mother's blood is imagined to increase the strength of the male who is uncertain of his masculinity. Males marry many wives and even rape their own daughters¹⁰⁴ in order to fortify their masculinity, and fathers often have "boy-wives" to absorb some of their maleness.¹⁰⁵ It is not surprising that with both boys and girls "almost their only, and certainly their supreme, game was coitus," particularly "licking the vagina of girls" to increase their strength.¹⁰⁶ Gang raping is constant among Aboriginals, as it is in all tribal cultures.¹⁰⁷ Roheim calls the constant rape of Aboriginal children "far more 'normal' than the sexuality of the European male" since "their repression of sexuality need not be as deep as it is among Europeans."¹⁰⁸

The initial ritual of Aboriginal boys is accomplished by throwing them into a trench called "The Old Woman" with a bull-roarer called "The Mother" (her womb), repeating their birth by going through a birth tunnel with an umbilical rope attached, being covered by "the menstrual blood that can cause you to die," and then sub-incising them with "a slit made on the underside of his penis" that is said to create a powerful vagina.¹⁰⁹ The men then have intercourse in the split on the underside of the penis, "like a split-open frankfurter."¹¹⁰ Equipped with a vagina and with the powerful blood of the "Old Serpent Woman" who roams the desert in search of people to eat, warriors go out to kill anyone they can find, living "in dread of enemies" who are Killer Mother serpents, creating Faked Provocations of some fancied wrongs that might justify the killing, either individually or in small groups. Many Australian tribes ate their dead enemies, including their neighbors, though "not for the sake of food."¹¹¹ Australian Aborigines also "never neglect to massacre all strangers who fall into their power."¹¹² "Men, women and children are massacred indiscriminately."¹¹³ A majority of adult men are killed by homicide and over a quarter are killed in warfare.¹¹⁴ These patterns have not changed in millennia: "fighting scenes are extensively depicted in Aboriginal rock art dating back at least 10,000 years."¹¹⁵ When childrearing doesn't change, economies and cultures do not change.

Ask yourself this question:

Why did American negroids march down America's streets and demand integration rights into political and economic systems built and managed by the Aryan people, whom they were specifically labeling as their brutal oppressors? Why did the Black race not demand separation and autonomy?

Facts: During the 1950s, at the time when the largest economic boom in American human history was taking place, the America's Negroes were not just faltering, they were withering in desolation and despair. This, of course, was not a plot conceived by the white man. White males were, and always had been, the major source of employment for the Negro (both male and female). They took it upon themselves to employ negroids. They took it upon themselves to build housing for them (public housing). They took it upon themselves to provide a welfare system to feed the Negroids who were hungry.

All of this occurred despite the fact the black race was supposed to be a separate and self-reliant people. They were SUPPOSED to build their own towns, cities, and industries. They were supposed to provide their own tax base to fund their own welfare systems. They were supposed to create their own political titles, and if they truly felt oppressed, they were supposed to colonize their own place in America like others had done before them.

Not only did they fail in every one of these aspects, but they never built even one city. Not even one. NEVER in human history had a single society experienced more economic prosperity than America did during the time of desegregation. The American Negro population reached almost 19 million as of 1960. By that time, there were 1,551 U.S. cities built by Americans. The negroids had built: -0- Even the small group of German sailors who were imprisoned in America during WW1 were able to build their own town, and they were in prison LINK. Meanwhile, 19 million negroids, while free, could not build even a single one.

The number of industries established by Negro males: -0-

The number of tax bases created by Negro males capable of sustaining government services: -0-

The number of white males & females employed by a Negro and supporting a family: -0-

Clearly the Negro race in America had been and have always demonstrated different behavioral characteristics when compared to White males. More specifically, while one race of men, Aryans, not only provided for themselves and their families, they also provided for an entire separate race of men, men who discernibly failed to provide for themselves.

No other race flees their own racial group like the African Americans. If ever given the opportunity, a black will always choose to live among whites rather than with their own species. Every multi-millionaire Black male or female flees their communities to live among affluent whites. Imagine how much economic activity the Black community is being deprived when those wealthy Blacks flee straight into the White community.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — If a bank trusts someone with keys to the vault, you would expect they would not try to steal and if they did, they would not brag about it online.

Federal investigators said that is exactly what Arlando Henderson was doing. According to a federal indictment, Henderson worked for Wells Fargo in Charlotte and stole more than $88,000 from the vault.

The Truth of Interracial Rape in the United States

By: Lawrence Auster

FrontPageMagazine.com | Thursday, May 03, 2007

Like Ahab's search for the Great White Whale, liberals' search for the Great White Defendant is relentless and never-ending. When, in 1988, Tawana Brawley's and Al Sharpton's then year-old spectacular charge that several white men including prosecutor Steven Pagnones (whose name Brawley had picked out of a newspaper article) had abducted and raped the 15 year old was shown to be completely false, the Nation said it didn't matter, since the charges expressed the essential nature of white men's treatment of black women in this country. When the Duke University lacrosse players were accused of raping a black stripper last year, liberals everywhere treated the accusation as fact, because, just as with the Nation and Tawana Brawley, the rape charge seemed to the minds of liberals to reflect the true nature of oppressive racial and sexual relations in America.

To see the real truth of the matter, let us take a look at the Department of Justice document Criminal Victimization in the United States, 2005. (Go to the linked document, and under "Victims and Offenders" download the pdf file for 2005.)

In Table 42, entitled "Personal crimes of violence, 2005, percent distribution of single-offender victimizations, based on race of victims, by type of crime and perceived race of offender," we learn that there were 111,590 white victims and 36,620 black victims of rape or sexual assault in 2005. (The number of rapes is not distinguished from those of sexual assaults; it is maddening that sexual assault, an ill-defined category that covers various types of criminal acts ranging from penetration to inappropriate touching, is conflated with the more specific crime of rape.) In the 111,590 cases in which the victim of rape or sexual assault was white, 44.5 percent of the offenders were white, and 33.6 percent of the offenders were black. In the 36,620 cases in which the victim of rape or sexual assault was black, 100 percent of the offenders were black, and 0.0 percent of the offenders were white. The table explains that 0.0 percent means that there were under 10 incidents nationally.

The table does not give statistics for Hispanic victims and offenders. But the bottom line on interracial white/black and black/white rape is clear:

In the United States in 2005, 37,460 white females were sexually assaulted or raped by a black man, while between zero and ten black females were sexually assaulted or raped by a white man.

What this means is that every day in the United States, over one hundred white women are raped or sexually assaulted by a black man.

37,476 white women interracially raped compared to zero black women. ...zero ...zero ...zero

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — A 23-year-old Memphis man has been sentenced to 40 years in prison for hitting an 11-year-old girl with his vehicle, then raping her. But the girl's family is not at all satisfied with the sentence.

That 40 years is much less than what prosecutors pushed for 23-year-old Larry Ward to receive.

In 2016, Ward hit the 11-year-old while she was walking to Geeter Middle School with his SUV, forced her inside, threatened to kill her, then raped her.

Suspect images released after feces poured on people inside libraries at York, U of T

Toronto police have released suspect images from one of two incidents in which “liquefied fecal matter” was allegedly poured onto victims on university campuses in the city.

Police said Monday that they are investigating two separate reports of feces being thrown at people inside libraries on Toronto university campuses.

The first incident reportedly occurred at the University of Toronto’s Robarts Library on Nov. 22.

One student, who told CP24 she was in the library at the time, said a man appeared out of nowhere with a bucket that smelled of urine and feces.

She said the man walked over to a male who was seated at a table and dumped the bucket over his head.

“It didn’t smell at first and then all of a sudden, the smell hit,” the witness said. “I thought I was going to like faint or like cry... Me and my friends just packed up our stuff and ran out of the room.”

She noted that she “will never forget that smell.”

Ninety Two Percent: Examining the Birth Trends, Family Structure, Economic Standing, Paternal Relationships, and Emotional Stability of Biracial Children with African American Fathers

Abstract:

This study examines the birth trends, family structure, economic standing, paternal relationships, and emotional stability of biracial children with African American fathers. For study implementation quantitative research methods were used. Questions were asked through a questionnaire that was administered to 1000 women spanning the United States that were equally ranging from 3 different racial groups; Caucasian, Asian, and Hispanic. Participants were recruited through the internet, radio, and news. This study finds that 92% of biracial children with African American fathers are born out of wedlock and 82% end up on government assistance. The results of this study make it very clear that biracial children with African American fathers are fatherless on a scale much larger than the public may realize.

Winter selects for r-reproductive strategy, whereas the equator selects for K-strategy. The northern climates select for the ability to plan ahead and work cooperatively, whereas the equator selects for the ability to rapidly reproduce regardless of mental ability or loyalty to family.

The symbols r and K originate in the mathematics of population biology and refer to the two ends of a continuum in which a compensatory exchange occurs between gamete production (the r-strategy) and longevity (the K-strategy). In ecology, r/K selection theory relates to the selection of traits in an organism that trade between quantity and quality of offspring. An r-selected organism focuses on an increased quantity of offspring at the expense of individual parental investment, whereas a K-selected organism has a reduced quantity of offspring with a corresponding increased parental investment.

In unstable or unpredictable environments, r-selection predominates due to the ability to reproduce rapidly. There is little advantage in adaptations that permit successful competition with other organisms because the environment is likely to change again.

In stable or predictable environments, K-selection predominates as the ability to compete successfully for limited resources become the crucial factor.

Cannibal restaurant 'with roasted human heads on the menu' shut down by police

Police were tipped off about the restaurant (not pictured) by visitors (Getty)

Police arrested 11 people and closed a restaurant after two human heads wrapped in cellophane were discovered at a hotel restaurant that had been serving human flesh.

A tip-off led police to the macabre discovery in Anambra, Nigeria, with 11 people being arrested and AK-47 guns and other weapons being seized.

Human flesh was apparently being sold as an expensive treat at the restaurant, with authorities saying that roasted human head was even on the menu.

"I went to the hotel early this year, after eating, I was told that a lump of meat was being sold at N700, I was surprised," a pastor who had visited the eatery said.

"So I did not know it was human meat that I ate at such expensive price.

"What is this country turning into? Can you imagine people selling human flesh as meat," he added. "Seriously I'm beginning to fear people in this part of the world. "

Another local added to the Osun Defender newspaper: "I always noticed funny movements in and out of the hotel; dirty people with dirty characters always come into the hotel.

"So, I was not surprised when the police made this discovery in the early hours of yesterday."

The tabloid reported that two army caps, 40 rounds of live ammunition and 'so many cell phones' were also discovered by authorities.

But even though Africans have low IQ, are prone to criminal behavior, and are likely to rape our women and murder our men, the Africans were still enslaved by whites, and so white people are partially to blame for the predicament of the blacks. So shouldn't we help them?

-Actually, no. The reality is that whites abhor the concept of slavery, and historically, they have put an end to it wherever they found it. Whites have opposed slavery in America since the very foundation of the nation. It was actually the jews who facilitated the slave trade, and who were the majority of slave owners. At the height of American slavery, 78% of slave owners were jews. Moreover, 40% of the jewish population in the US were slave owners, while only 0.35% of the whites in America owned slaves. Proportionally, this means jews are 11,428% more likely to own a slave than a white person. Those few whites who did own slaves, did so with the intent of freeing them once the slave was capable of living safely within a white nation. Jews, on the other hand, view their goyim slaves as mere cattle to be worked to death when necessary.

Did Jews really own slaves?

Yes. Jacob Rader Marcus, a historian and Reform rabbi, wrote in his four-volume history of American Jews that over 75 percent of Jewish families in Charleston, South Carolina; Richmond, Virginia; and Savannah, Georgia, owned slaves, and nearly 40 percent of Jewish households across the country did.

SLAVERY IN HISTORY.

tion. The Franks revolted against taxation when one of the kings tried to apply it to them, but the Roman populations bore its whole brunt. Tribute, taxes and other exactions finally became so oppressive that the poor and impoverished sold their children and sometimes even themselves into slavery. The Jews were the common mediators and factors in this traffic, as well as the most extensive slave-traders all over Europe, both then and in subsequent times; and a considerable part of the hereditary hatred of the European masses toward the Jews is to be ascribed to this historic fact.

The Frankish kings and their Frankish subjects had large estates, métairies, worked by serfs and chattels. The conquerors hated the cities, preferring the favorite old German life in the country, where they spent their time surrounded by their followers. The lordly mansions, the sala of the kings and the powerful, were erected amidst great forests in the style of encampments; and to this day the German word hof-lager, "court-camp," is the name for the residence or court of a sovereign. Political power and prestige were no longer derived from municipal citizenship, but from the possession of land; and thus originated the feudal importance of the country and the barons, in contradistinction to the now powerless municipium. In the Greek and Roman world, the country was wholly sacrificed, politically and socially, to the city, which, in turn, acquired more and more political power and importance in proportion as do-

But even if the poor Africans aren't like us, and even if slavery had nothing to do with whites, the Africans are still fleeing war-torn areas. So even though they bring rape and murder and steal from us, and though they will likely result in the collapse of our noble societies, we must still help them because imagine how terrible their war-torn homeland must be compared to our cities:

Hundreds of British parents are sending their teenage children back to East Africa to avoid the knife crime epidemic that has struck London and seen 51 murders this year.

And the teenagers say they feel safer there, despite the Foreign and Commonwealth office advising against all travel to Somalia and warning against the threat of terrorism across Kenya.

One Somali mother, Amina, was interviewed on the BBC's Victoria Derbyshire programme and told the harrowing story of how her 15-year-old son was stabbed four times, just 17 days after he returned from a year-long stay in their homeland.

To review: there exists in this world four distinct human species which are closely related and capable of interbreeding effectively, but each of which is a part of distinct genetic, phenotypical, and behavioral group. Understanding that there exist different human species (each with a variety of subspecies) helps us to understand that these varying species and subspecies will inevitably display different behaviors, and often in predictable ways. As different species, we can be expected to respond differently when exposed to the same stimuli (stimuli such as laws, social norms and education). Without this understanding, these varying responses will seem confusing and quite irrational to those of a different species.

Really? You believe it's all down to culture? Why on Earth would you choose that as the most rational explanation for what you see? You've seen evidence that even when born and bred into white culture blacks still do worse. Even the richest blacks only barely do better than the poorest whites. Yet it's all down to culture? Despite thousands of years with no contact (and therefore possible oppression) from other races, blacks created nothing. Despite hundreds of years of opportunity in white societies, blacks have never been truly successful. Despite money almost literally being thrown at them, despite prioritizing them over everyone else for jobs, blacks still remain in the dirt in every civilization, every culture, everywhere. Despite there being literally billions of blacks since contact with (and therefore possible adoption of) "superior white culture" — many times more whites than have existed at the same time — there has not been even one black Mozart, or Beethoven, or Newton, or even a less influential scientist (of which whites have bucketfuls) like Bacon or Maxwell or Faraday. Despite there being many African nations since the beginning of civilization, not even one has come even close to the success of even the poorest and smallest European nations.

And you think them equal? Despite tens of thousands of years of separation from the other races with no selection pressures for adaption, you think they've stayed the same as the others? Stayed equal? Despite every civilization that has encountered them thinking them inferior — from the Egyptians, to the Arabs, to the Romans and Europeans, to the Chinese — you think they're the same? Despite crime and violence and disorder and chaos wherever indicators, such as success, prosperity, and low crime — you think they are no different?

And where does this culture come from? Is it just created in a vacuum? How does this "superior culture" come about? How could a superior culture come about if the people it is created by are not superior themselves?

Let's try a thought experiment. Assuming that all humans everywhere had the same predisposition to success and civilization-building, where would we expect the most successful societies to come about? If there are no differences in the people, the difference must come from the land. So, logically, the most powerful and successful civilizations must come from the most rich land. And which is better land? Africa, with its temperate and steady climate, good farmland, diversity of crops and wildlife, tons of ores and natural resources such as coal and oil, as well as large amounts of lumber? Or Europe, with its frigid and fluctuating climate, killing conditions (such as in winter), treacherous and often unfarmable terrain, limited usable crops and wildlife, and difficult-to-extract natural resources?

And what happens when we try to address these problems, assuming that it is all down to culture? We punish success, reward failure, tie lodestones around the necks of the successful, and forcibly integrate those who should never be integrated, inciting untold friction, suffering, cultural alienation, hatred, and effectively shoot our societies in the head. All for the sake of a belief without evidence that is held to religiously. And to solve this you'll cause more hatred, violence, and killing just as all leftist ideologies have everywhere when their deluded fantasies fail to live up to reality, from the French Revolution to modern fucking African Marxists (although they'd kill and rape anyway, so...).

Metinks you're full of shit.

Doctors who failed surgeons exams to rewrite it in multiple-choice format

An examination spectacularly failed by all would-be professional surgeons from five universities two weeks ago will now be written in a multiple-choice format. Zach Koto, president of the council of surgeons at the Colleges of Medicine of SA (CMSA), announced at a media briefing held in Joburg on Tuesday that the multiple-choice format will be used, starting from next year.

A row erupted last week after it emerged that all candidates from Wits University, University of Cape Town, University of Pretoria, Walter Sisulu University and University of the Free State had failed the exam.

Despite what the constant barrage of pictures of starving African kids would have you believe, Africa has the most natural resources and arable land of any continent on earth.

Starving African kids are the product of white charity which allows these animals to breed uninhibited. Europeans would never have wasted all of that time and effort trying to help had they realize that niggers do not function in the same way as we do.

They function with an "everything that is yours is mine" mentality. This is because food is plentiful and resources seem limitless. They gather what they need to survive for the day, and no more. They hunt and gather any food they see because if they do not, then the next nigger will take it. If they do not want it, they leave it and it belongs to the next nigger to meanders by. It was quite literally: everything that is yours is mine. If an area ran out of food, they simply moved onto the next area and began anew.

This same mentality carried over into our world: if niggers see something they want, they simply take it. Niggers will take anything and everything that's not nailed down (and depending on how much effort is required, they'll take that too). They have no understanding of ownership.

This is also why they do not perceive why rape is wrong. If a nigger wants a woman, he just takes her, like he takes everything else he wants. Everything that is yours is mine, and this includes your women. Assault, theft and rape are all a part of African culture, along with dead animal-limb hats. So sexy.

I have a friend who did missionary work in China and Africa. He said Africa was the worst place on the planet.

>Try to teach Africans to boil water so they quit getting sick
>Devise a simple timer using a water bottle that hangs from a string; the length of time it takes for all the water to drain from it is the time needed to boil the water so it's clean
>That fixes the problem for about a week
>Then the Africans all get the shits again
>Try to see what they're doing wrong
>They didn't understand the concept of a timer and thought the water leaking from the bottle was magic; they poked holes in all the bottles so they would drain faster and they wouldn't have to boil the water as long
>They still don't get it after he explains it all to them again

>Goes to see where the Africans are getting their water for drinking/cooking
>It's a small creek
>It's also where they dump their trash, bathe, shit (they literally shit right into the water), and throw dead animals they don't want stinking up the village
>Explain that the water will be clean and safe to drink/cook with if they quit shitting in it and throwing trash and dead animals into it
>They get pissed and demand to know where they're supposed to shit and throw stuff
>"Not in your fucking drinking water!"

>He's walking from the post office to the mission outpost with an armful of Bibles
>Sees two Africans, buck naked, standing in the middle of the street where the entire village can see them, taking turns fucking a screaming, bound monkey in the ass
>Yells at them not to do that
>They get offended, but desist in ass fucking the monkey; they instead kill it and cook it for lunch
>He comes back an hour later and they're fucking a goat outside the market

He hates niggers now. Says they have the "mark of Cain".

The narrative on niggers is insane. Whites need to be brainwashed to go along with it. A handful of facts that you can state in a single minute immediately blows the narrative out of the water:

Fact: niggers are of subnormal intelligence.

Fact: niggers have limited impulse control.

Fact: niggers cannot foresee future consequences for present actions.

Fact: niggers have limited empathy for other creatures.

Fact: when niggers become frightened or angry, their ability to reason shuts down.

Fact: niggers are racists who resent and hate whites.

Fact: niggers commit vastly more violent crime than any other human species.

Fact: every nigger community in America is a shithole.

Fact: every nigger-run country in the world is a shithole.

Fact: whites have been so brainwashed by the jew-media that they become offended if a white says or even writes the word nigger, despite the obvious fact that niggers constantly use it.

It requires a 24-hour, daily river of lies to combat the reality that niggers are a serious threat, and that is exactly what the corporate Jew-run media gives us. It has always been the niggers, but in the past this was not so obvious because the media concealed these facts from us. However, with the advent of the Internet, they can not hide it any longer. We can watch them committing these crimes in video clips. We can see with our own eyes exactly what they do and how they act. It is the niggers who are doing the shoplifting, the smash and grab, the looting, the random assaults, the murders and the unending rapes. I wonder if people ever ask themselves why there are no video clips of white people committing all of these crimes?"

A fragment from a blog of a Russian man who went on a business trip to South Africa, translated for your convenience.

Me and my friend had to spend roughly 10 hours in Johannesburg. We asked Mikhail and he convinced some kamikaze driver to take us on a tour through the city center. We, the two retards, thought that they were exaggerating about the danger just to frighten us. We thought that we'd get to the center, take a long good stroll through it and show everyone that Russians aren't afraid of anything.

We ended up not even coming close to doing any of these things.

Reason?

We nearly shat ourselves.

The descent to Johannesburg from the plateau made the city look great. Beautiful, big, modern. Some skyscrapers here and there, some nice Victorian-style buildings. Green lawns, blue sky.

Upon actually entering the city, the picture changed drastically.

It looked completely abandoned.

There was no electricity.

Piles of trash just lying in the streets.

Burst sewer pipes flooding several spots.

The only thing clear of debris was the main road, the only functional electrical devices were the traffic lights.

And this was the city center, the relatively safe part of the city.

Prior to riding into the city, the driver appointed by Mikhail read us a short "do's and don'ts" lecture. He seemed very tense, gulping often and suspiciously looking around as he spoke:

"If you curts want to survive this, do exactly as I say.

After we enter the city, NO LOUD NOISES, do not ATTRACT ANY ATTENTION!

NO FUCKING IPHONES OR CAMERAS flashing through the car windows!

DO NOT MAKE EYE CONTACT with ghouls! (that's what he called niggers)

And no matter what happens, DO NOT OPEN THE WINDOWS!

Because suddenly a lamp post can fall and block the way, and the ghouls will fucking siege us.

And remember that I have kids, so at least follow these rules for my sake..."

We spent two hours riding around the city center.

It was quiet enough in the bus to hear a pin drop.

To understand what happened to the city, a small historical flashback is needed.

After the apartheid was over, a two-million swarm of Africans flooded the city, opening the era of African Reqnquista. They were not natives, they just left their usual places in the desert and went wherever life was better. Mikhail, the guy who got us the driver, lived in Johannesburg at that time and told us the following:

In the middle of an ordinary workday, something happened.

The office center's doors opened and an unorganized crowd of several thousand blacks rushed in, carrying their belongings in huge bags. They asked us not to pay any attention to them and continue working, while they were spreading around the building and occupying every bit of territory that was available. Armchairs, stools, sofas, restrooms and hallways - they were everywhere, happily chatting and wasting no time in taking whatever shiny things the building's original denizens had on them.

The office became filled with commotion. Chickens were butchered and gutted in the hallways, tables in audience rooms turned into cooking tables, restrooms became bathhouses.

The polite question "What's going on?" was answered with "This is our home now".

The subsequent, less polite question "What the fuck?" met a reply "It will be better for everyone".

Mikhail called the cops.

Cops didn't come.

They apologized and explained that exactly the same thing was happening cross the entire city.

Then, everyone who could started to quietly flee the city, headed towards the suburbs and Cape Town, while erecting barriers to block the paths - hedges, moats, electrified fences. The last district of Johannesburg where you can meet a white man nowadays is the Pretoria suburb.

After a massive exodus, owners of the buildings started thinking of what to do.

Bingol! They decided that if they switch off the electricity, water and sewer access to the buildings, the ghouls will leave them and return to the savannah.

So, they switched them off.

Ghouls didn't even notice.

Of course, in the savannah they had neither of these modern conveniences. "Where do they shit, then?" I asked Mikhail.

Mikhail replied that the office owners were also puzzled by this - and completely shocked after they found out.

You see, after invading the buildings, none of the ghouls could figure out what elevator shafts were for. Once they ripped out the elevator doors, they spent a few days scratching heads and spitting into the darkness, until it finally occurred to them.

"White people are geniuses when it comes to planning", thought the ghouls, and the shafts became both toilets and garbage dumps ever since.

According to Mikhail, it takes roughly ten years for an average ghoul horde to shit up an office building to the point of complete unliveability. After that, like in good old prehistoric times, the horde migrates to new pastures, occupying another building.

We rode on through Johannesburg's streets, glued to the car windows, devouring the scenery with our eyes. Fashionable modern houses with boarded-up windows passed us by. When we came across a rare open window, we could see fires burning inside, with ghouls lying or walking around them.

(Once again) According to Mikhail, a new, albeit informal service appeared in Johannesburg. Bunches of tough guys go around offering to take the buildings back from ghouls. It happens like this: in the middle of the night several trucks drive up to the building, and hundred or two of armed thugs go inside. Quickly, they grab the sleeping ghouls and simply start throwing them out of the building, trying not to wake the whole horde up. Before the horde completely comes to its senses and starts expressing its displeasure, the thugs weld shut all doors and windows on the first floor and put up an electrified fence. After the building is cleaned and refurbished, it turns back into an office.

That's how the remnants of Johannesburg's white population live and work. In the evening and during the night they keep safe behind armored doors and private guards. In the morning they get into their cars and quickly, without stopping, ride outside their fortresses to work. After a short ride through more-or-less safe streets, they drive into one of the heavily guarded foxholes that leads to the underground parking garages. And that concludes their arrival to the workplace.

Another funny thing I noticed - if two "live" buildings are nearby, they are often connected by an aerial passage at the 10th or 11th floor. So office workers can even visit each other if they want to. The only trick to it is not to look down. Down there is ghoul territory.

STORIES FROM A TEACHER

Until recently I taught at a predominantly black high school in a southeastern state. I took the job because I wasn't knowledgeable about race at the time, and black schools aren't picky. The school offered me a job and suddenly I was in darkest Africa. Except, I wasn't in Africa; I was in America.

Blacks outnumbered whites about five to one at this school and there were hardly any Hispanics. Some of my classes were all-black, or nearly so, because the gifted and advanced classes siphoned off most of the white students and I taught regular classes. There were some black teachers but the majority were white.

The mainstream press gives a hint of what conditions are like in black schools, but only a hint. Expressions journalists use like "chaotic" or "poor learning environment" or "lack of discipline" do not capture what really happens. There is nothing like the day-to-day experience of teaching black children and that is what I will try to convey.

Most whites simply do not know what black people are like in large numbers, and the first encounter can be a shock. One of the most immediately striking things about my students was that they were loud. They had little conception of ordinary white decorum. It was not unusual for five blacks to be screaming at me at once. Instead of calming down and waiting for a lull in the din to make their point — something that occurs to even the dimmest white students — blacks just tried to yell over each other.

It did no good to try to quiet them, and white women were particularly inept at trying. I sat in on one woman's class as she begged the children to pipe down. They just yelled louder so their voices would carry over hers.

Many of my black students would repeat themselves over and over again — just louder. They seemed to have no conception of waiting for an appropriate time to say something. They would get ideas in their heads and simply had to shout them out. I might be leading a discussion on government and suddenly be interrupted: "We gotta get more Democrats! Clinton, she good!" The student may seem content with that outburst but two minutes later, he would suddenly start yelling again: "Clinton good!"

Anyone who is around young blacks will get a constant diet of rap music. Blacks often make up their own jingles, and it was not uncommon for 15 black boys to swagger into a classroom, bouncing their shoulders and jiving back and forth, rapping 15 different sets of words in the same harsh, rasping dialect. The words were almost invariably a childish form of boasting: "Who got dem shine rim, who got dem shine shoe, who got dem shine grill (gold and silver dental caps)?" The amateur rapper usually ends with a claim — in the crudest terms imaginable — that all womankind is sexually devoted to him. For whatever reason, my students would often groan instead of saying a particular word, as in, "She suck dat aaahhhh (think of a long grinding groan), she fk dat aaahhhh, she lick dat aaahhhh."

Black women love to dance — in a way white people might call gyrating. They dance in the hall, in the classroom, on the chairs, next to the chairs, under the chairs, everywhere. Once I took a call on my cell phone and had to step outside of class. I was away about two minutes but when I got back the black girls had lined up at the front of the classroom and were convulsing to the delight of the boys.

Many black people, especially black women, are enormously fat. Some are so fat I had to arrange special seating to accommodate their bulk. I am not saying there are no fat white students — there are — but it is a matter of numbers and attitudes. Many black girls simply do not care that they are fat. There are plenty of white anorexics, but I have never met or heard of a black anorexic.

"Black women be big Mr. Jackson," my students would explain.

"Is it okay in the black community to be a little overweight?" I ask.

Two obese black girls in front of my desk begin to dance, "You know dem boys lak juicy fruit, Mr. Jackson." "Juicy" is a colorful black expression for the buttocks.

Blacks are the most directly critical people I have ever met: "Dat shirt stupid. Yo' kid a bastard. Yo' lips big." Unlike whites, who tread gingerly around the subject of race, they can be brutally to the point. Once I needed to send a student to the office to deliver a message. I asked for volunteers, and suddenly you would think my classroom was a bastion of civic engagement. Thirty dark hands shot into the air. My students loved to leave the classroom and slack off, even if just for a few minutes, away from the eye of white authority. I picked a light-skinned boy to deliver the message. One very black student was indignant: "You pick da half-breed." And immediately other blacks take up the cry, and half a dozen mouths are screaming, "He half-breed."

For decades, the country has been lamenting the poor academic performance of blacks and there is much to lament. There is no question, however, that many blacks come to school with a serious handicap that is not their fault. At home they have learned a dialect that is almost a different language. Blacks not only mispronounce words; their grammar is often wrong. When a black wants to ask, "Where is the bathroom?" he may actually say "Whar da badroom be?" Students write the way they speak, so this is the language that shows up in written assignments.

It is true that some whites face a similar handicap. They speak with what I would call a "country" accent that is hard to reproduce but results in sentences such as "I'm gonna gemme a Coke." Some of these country whites had to learn correct pronunciation and usage. The difference is that most whites overcome this handicap and learn to speak correctly; many blacks do not.

Most of the blacks I taught simply had no interest in academic subjects. I taught history, and students would often say they didn't want to do an assignment or they didn't like history because it was all about white people. So I would assign them a project on a real, historical black person. My favorite was Marcus Garvey. They had never heard of him, and I would tell them to research him, but they never did. They didn't care and they didn't want to do any work.

Anyone who teaches blacks soon learns that blacks view government completely differently than whites do. Once I decided to fill 25 minutes by having students write about one thing the government should do to improve America. Nearly every black gave a variation on the theme of "We need more government services." My students had only the vaguest notion of who pays for government services. For them, it was like a magical piggy bank that never goes empty. Many black girls are perfectly happy to be welfare queens. On career day, one girl explained to the class that she was going to have lots of children and get fat checks from the government. No one in the class seemed to have any objection to this career choice.

Surprising attitudes can come out in class discussion. We were talking about the crimes committed in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina, and I brought up the rape of a young girl in the bathroom of the Superdome. One black boy spoke up without raising his hand: "Dat no big deal. They thought they is gonna die so they figured they have some fun. Dey jus' wanna have a fun time; gnome I'm sayin'?" A few other blacks nodded in agreement.

My department head once asked all the teachers to get a response from all students to the following question: "Do you think it is okay to break the law if it will benefit you greatly?" By then, I had been teaching for a while and was not surprised by answer: "Get dat green."

There is a level of conformity among blacks that whites would find hard to believe. They like one kind of music: rap. They will vote for one political party: Democrat. They dance one way, speak one way, are loud the same way, and fail their exams in the same way. Of course, there are exceptions but they are rare. Whites are different. Some like country music, others heavy metal, some prefer pop, and still others, God forbid, enjoy rap music. They have different associations, groups, almost ideologies. There are jocks, nerds, preppies, and hunters. Blacks are all — well — black, and they are quick to let other blacks know when they deviate from the norm. Certainly, they form rival groups, but the groups are not different in any discernible way.

How the world looks to blacks

One point on which all blacks agree is that everything is 'rayciss'. This is one message of liberalism they have absorbed completely. Did you do your homework? "Na, homework rayciss." Why did you get an F on the test? "Test rayciss."

I was trying to teach a unit on British philosophers and the first thing the students noticed about Bentham, Hobbes, and Locke was "Dey all white! Wur da black filahsofah?" I tried to explain there were no blacks in eighteenth-century Britain. You can probably guess what they said to that: "Dat rayciss!"

What about black boys and white girls? No one is supposed to notice this or talk about it but it is glaringly obvious: Black boys are obsessed with white girls. White parents would do well to keep their daughters well away from black schools. I've witnessed the following drama countless times. A black boy saunters up to a white girl. The cocky black dances around her, not really in a menacing way. It's more a shuffle than a threat. As he bobs and shuffles he asks, "When you gonna go wit' me?"

There are two kinds of reply. The more confident white girl gets annoyed, looks away from the black and shouts, "I don't wanna go out with you!" The more demure girl will look at her feet and mumble a polite excuse but ultimately say no. There is only one response from the black boy: "You rayciss." Many girls — all too many — actually feel guilty because they do not want to date blacks. Most white girls at my school stayed away from blacks, but a few, particularly the ones who were addicted to drugs, fell in with them.

There is something else that is striking about blacks. They seem to have no sense of romance, of falling in love. Blacks believe what brings men and women together is sex, pure and simple, and there is a crude openness about this. There are many degenerate whites, of course, but some of my white students were capable of real devotion and tenderness, emotions that seemed absent from blacks — especially the boys.

Black schools are violent and the few whites who are too poor to escape are caught in the storm. The violence is astonishing, not so much that it happens, but the atmosphere in which it happens. Blacks can be smiling, seemingly perfectly content with what they are doing, having a good time, and then, suddenly start fighting. It's uncanny.

The real victims are the unfortunate whites caught in this fighting. They are always in danger and their educations suffer. White weaklings are particularly susceptible, but mostly to petty violence. They may be slapped or get a couple of kicks when they are trying to open a bottom locker. Typically, blacks save the hard, serious violence for each other.

There was a lot of promiscuous sex among my students and this led to violence. Black girls were constantly fighting over black boys. It was not uncommon to see two girls literally ripping each other's hair out with a police officer in the middle trying to break up the fight. The black boy they were fighting over would be standing by with a smile, enjoying the show he had created. For reasons I cannot explain, boys seldom fought over girls.

Pregnancy was common among the blacks, though many black girls were so fat I could not tell the difference. I don't know how many girls got abortions.

Aside from the police officers constantly on patrol, a sure sign that you are in a black school is the coke cage: the chain-link fence that many majority-black schools use to protect vending machines. The cage surrounds the machine and even covers its top. Delivery employees have to unlock a gate on the front of the cage to service the machines. Companies would prefer not to build cages around vending machines. They are expensive, ugly, and a bother, but black students smashed the machines so many times it was cheaper to build a cage than repair the damage. Before the cages went up, blacks would turn the machines upside down in the hope that the money would fall out.

Security guards are everywhere in black schools — we had one on every hall. They also sat in on unruly classes and escorted students to the office.

Rural black schools have to have security too but they are usually safer. One reason is that the absolute numbers are smaller. A mostly-black school of 300 students is safer than a mostly-black school of 2,000. Also, students in rural areas — both black and white — tend to have grown up together and know each other, at least by sight.

There was a lot of drug-dealing at my school. This was a good way to make a fair amount of money but it also gave boys power over girls who wanted drugs. An addicted girl — black or white — became the plaything of anyone who could get her drugs.

One of my students was a notorious drug dealer. Everyone knew it. He was 19 years old and in eleventh grade. Once he got a score of three out of 100 on a test. He had been locked up four times since he was 13, and there he was sitting next to little, white Caroline. One day I asked why he still came to school. e wouldn't answer. He just looked out the window and sucked air through his teeth. His friend Yidarius ventured an explanation: "He get dat green and get dem females."

"What is the green?" I asked. "Money or dope?"

"Both," said Yidarius with a smile.

A very fat black interrupted from across the room: "We get dat lunch," Mr. Jackson. "We gotta get dat lunch and brickfuss." He means the free breakfast and lunch poor students get every day.

Some readers may believe that I have drawn a cruel caricature of black students. After all, according to official figures some 85 percent of them graduate. It would be instructive to know that they go from grade to grade and finally get their diplomas only because there is so much pressure on teachers to push them through. It saves money to move them along, the school looks good, and the teachers look good. Many of these children should have been failed, but the system would crack under their weight if they were honestly graded.

How did my experiences make me feel about blacks? Ultimately, I lost sympathy for them. In so many ways they seem to make their own beds. There they were in an integrationist's fantasy — in the same classroom with white students, eating the same lunch, using the same bathrooms, listening to the same teachers — and yet the blacks fail while the whites pass.

There is an unutterable secret among teachers: blacks do not respond to traditional white instruction. Whites have learned a certain way for centuries but it just doesn't work with blacks.

Teaching as a career

Teaching can be fun. For a certain kind of person it is exhilarating to map out battles on chalkboards, and teach heroism. It is rewarding to challenge liberal prejudices, to leave my mark on these children, but what I aimed for with my white students I could never achieve with the blacks.

There is a kind of child whose look can melt your heart: some working-class cast-away, in and out of foster homes, often abused, who is nevertheless almost an angel. Your heart melts for these children, this refuse of the modern world. Many white students possess a certain innocence; their cheeks still blush.

Try as I might, I could not get the blacks to care one bit about Beethoven or Sherman's march to the sea, or Tyrtaeus, or Oswald Spengler, or even liberals like John Rawls, or their own history. They cared about nothing I tried to teach them. When this goes on year after year it chokes the soul out of a teacher, destroys his pathos, and sends him guiltily searching for The Bell Curve on the Internet.

Blacks break down the intimacy that can be achieved in the classroom, and leave you convinced that that intimacy is really a form of kinship. Without intending to, they destroy what is most beautiful — whether it be your belief in human equality, your daughter's innocence, or even the state of the hallway.

Just last year I read on the bathroom stall the words "Fk Whitey." Not two feet away, on the same stall, was a small swastika. The writing on that wall somehow symbolized the futility of integration. No child should have to try to learn in such conditions. Diversity and education do not mix.

One often hears from egalitarians that it doesn't matter what color predominates in a future America so long as we preserve our values, since we are a "proposition nation." But the problem with this is that blacks cannot "preserve our values." It is simply beyond their capacity to do so.

Most whites see blacks on television smiling and embodying white values, but the real black is not on television. For those of you with children, it would be better to have a smaller house in a white district than a fancy one near a black school. I have been in parent-teacher conferences that broke my heart: the child pleading with his parents to take her out of school; the parents convinced their child's fears are groundless. If you love your child, show her you care — not by giving her fancy vacations or a car, but making her innocent years safe and happy.

Don't let her live around blacks.

4. White people, if you can afford to downsize, give up the home you own to a black family.
5. White people, if any of the people you intend to leave your property to are racists assholes, will your property to a black family.
6. White people, re-budget your monthly income so you can donate to black funds for land purchasing.
7. White people, especially white women (because this is yaw specialty), get a racist fired. Yaw now what the f they be saying. Get your boss fired cause they racist too.

10. Commit to two things: Fighting white supremacy where and how you can, and funding black people and their work.

Chanelle Helm, BLM Leader

What if all blacks suddenly left America? First of all, American population would shrink by 13%. However, the prison population would be reduced by 40%. 52% of murders would instantly disappear. There would be 39% less gang members. Average IQ would go up 7.4 points, putting us 3rd in the world. Average SAT scores would rise by 100 points. Average ACT scores would increase by 5.5 points. AIDS & HIV would plummet by 65%. Chlamydia: down 54%. Gonorrhea: down 69%. Syphilis: down 58%. The average income would rise by $20,000 a year. People in poverty would drop 31%. Homelessness would plummet by 57%. Welfare recipients would drop by 42%. DEMOCRATS WOULD LOSE 36% OF THEIR VOTING BASE. Many criminal defense attorneys would have to find another line of work. So, as sad as it is, black lives do matter.

White Privilege Artist SJW Tortured and Killed By Someone She Fought For

A social justice warrior who was working on a "White Privilege" project was tortured and stabbed to death by one she sought to defend.

Corrina Mehiel constantly complained about white privilege, but that's not what killed her in the end. Mehiel was tortured and killed for absolutely no reason at all, by an African-American man. El Hadji Alpha Madiou Toure, 28, was arrested Monday night. He was charged with first-degree murder while armed and theft one.

Ironically, Mehiel's "White Privilege" art is what would lead to her death. Mehiel was visiting George Washington University in Washington DC. Mehiel was part of a project that tries to draw attention to one feature of white privilege or another. This time Mehiel's project involved lead paint in old houses occupied predominantly by black people.

Just a few days after she was photographed with Nancy Pelosi grinning in approval, friends found Mehiel tied up, stabbed, tortured, and ultimately dead at the hands of El Hadji Alpha Madiou Toure, a black man arrested driving her car and using her debit card.

Mehiel, 34, was found suffering from several stab wounds to the neck and torso in a basement apartment in the 600 block of 14th Street NE around about 4:30 p.m. March 21. She was pronounced dead after midnight March 22, one day before her birthday. Police have pictures of Toure using Mehiel's ATM card at several locations around the area. Her card was used seven times to withdrawal a total of $4,000 in the days before and after her death, beginning March 20.

If ICE Agents Show Up At Your Door:

- Don't open the door, but be calm. You have rights.
- Ask what they are there for, (and ask for an interpreter if you need one).
- If they ask to enter, ask if they have a warrant signed by a judge* and if so, ask to see it (through a window or slipped under the door).
- If they do NOT have a warrant signed by a judge*, you may refuse to let them in. Ask them to leave any information at your door.
- If they force their way in, don't resist. Tell everyone in the residence to remain silent.
- If you are arrested, remain silent and do not sign anything until you speak to a lawyer.

*An ICE administrative warrant (form I-200, I-205) does not allow them to enter your home without your consent.

We are so honored that House Democratic Leader Nancy Pelosi could join us at the #fundredreserve reception last night, as we brought together artists, community activists, policy makers, stand up comedians, filmmakers, citizens, family, journalists, academics, students, mothers, cousins, and friends new and old to stand with the fundred team, gathered from across the country to renew our pledge to work together to end lead poisoning.

The FUNDRED Dollar Bill Project in Washington, District of Columbia. March 9 at 9:58pm

It is important that we stop pretending that niggers are like us, and start speaking the truth about their limitations and their behavior patterns. They are a different species with a severely limited intelligence that prevents them from functioning or integrating into a free society. Stop pretending that what they do is acceptable. Stop making excuses for them. Stop blaming others for their failures. Why is the truth so hard to accept?

STORIES FROM AN AID WORKER

Once, a friend of another volunteer wanted to earn some money by baking bread. He got a little bit of money together and used it to buy ingredients. He built a mud stove himself, and cooked 30 loaves of “village bread”—basically misshapen, doughy baguette. He took the bread to the road and started to sell them until his father came by. His father said, “You have bread! The family needs bread!” and took 20 loaves for himself and the rest of the kids (this particular father had 4 wives and 8 kids per wife). Our enterprising African friend was left bankrupt. He lost his entire initial investment and never made bread again.

This is the basic story of Africa: communalism gone insane. It is completely unthinkable to refuse a demand of an elder or a family member for money or food. People hide any small money they had, because if anyone knew they had it there would be a line around the corner asking for loans and favors, and they would be honor-bound or whatever to say yes. I told my friends over and over to say no, and each time they politely explained to me that it was impossible. The whole system is built to pull people down to the lowest common denominator.

Every day, I ate the same meal—a huge communal bowl of rice with fish and some vegetables. Every day, the family I lived with spent a good amount of currency (for them) to buy bitter tomatoes and okra to put in the rice, despite the fact that nobody liked bitter tomatoes or okra. I asked, why do you waste so much money on these vegetables that nobody eats? They told me, because we don’t want anyone to think we’re poor.

Africans are all about face and presentation to the point of self-ruin. We’re talking about people for whom buying a couple vegetables has a huge impact on their bottom line, but they still do it. Saving is basically impossible. I’m convinced that they have no conception of the future aside from a vague idea that tomorrow will come. Cause and effect seemed to have no meaning. People who planned well, saved, and invested were not lauded or emulated, just dismissed as flukes or having received the blessing of Allah. Actually, Africans probably took to Islam like flies to shit because in Islam everything flows directly from God—it is a religion that gives people permission to believe that everything is out of their hands, which they believe anyway.

A man asked me if I could give him 10 hectares of land and a diesel-electric water pump to irrigate it. This was not uncommon. The first thing people usually asked me when I told them I was an Agriculture Development person was for tractors, cars, livestock, anything. Completely shameless begging. Men in expensive silk clothes with nice black sedans would shamelessly beg for gibsmédats when they learned what I did. Anyway, I asked this particular guy what experience he had farming or gardening. He said none.

I asked, “Then why do you want such a large scale enterprise? Why not get a small garden from the village chief and a used gas-pump to see how it goes? Maybe you’ll even earn enough money to upgrade in a year or two.” He said, “Well, my cousin got 10 hectares and a diesel-electric pump from the government,” so he was going to wait until he could get it too.

Gibsmédats are international. It’s disgusting. Every single cent of international aid is wasted on either bloodthirsty warlords, sniveling SWLP striver salaries, or gibsmédats for the underserving. The worst thing about this story was that the man was completely right to not try a small scale enterprise. He’s African. They have infinite time. One day a government project will come to his village and give him his pump and his 10 hectares. He won’t do shit with it, but he’ll proudly show off his pump and everyone in the village will respect him for his achievement of receiving some gibsmédats. During the festival of Eid al-Hada, a ram must be sacrificed because blah blah who cares. After killing and stringing the ram up into a tree for butchering, a gaggle of boys (they are always around in groups of 10-50, usually begging for presents and money because idiot white people always give it to them) rushed to the dying animal with a pair of scissors, snipped off its balls, and ran away with their prize. I asked the closest mother why, she said they’re going to grill it—the balls are a prized treat for the boys. I asked, do the girls eat it too? Of course not, she said. They would get pregnant with a goat.

Africans are dumb as shit. Basically, they never grow up. You are dealing with 200 pound children. If you go into interactions with that mindset, things go all right, but if you expect anything adult from them, you’ll be disappointed and frustrated at every turn. They believe in everything you can list—ghosts, angels, demons, curses, charms, blessings, and magic. Oh, and magic. They love it. I was party to a number of village magic battles, where charms and counter-charms were buried at people’s doorsteps, protective wards were made, and potions were snuck into tea. It’s a huge deal, and everyone pays big bucks (for them) to the local shamans and witch doctors to get all these magical trinkets. Yes, even in Islamic Africa, it’s just like this. They are pagan savages first and moon-worshipping goatfuckers second. They just slap a varnish of Islam on it—“The magic charm has a Koranic verse in it!”—and go about their lives happily as before.

A volunteer once fronted enough money for the farmer he lived with to buy fertilizer. They spread it together, and the yield was recorded. In total, it was 9 fold over the year prior. Instead of taking out his share to cover the loan, said volunteer forced the farmer to buy fertilizer for the next year, and save it. The next year came and they used it again, and again the yield was 10 fold over the first non-fertilizer year. This time, though, the volunteer had left the country. The farmer didn’t buy any fertilizer, and instead blew through what he earned from his crop on frivolous crap and gifts to every extended family member who cast a shadow on his door. The next year his yields returned to the original level, and everyone went on with their lives as happy as before. The end.

This is my penultimate Africa story. There’s a bit more to it—the Peace Corps showed graphs and charts of this particular case as a successful intervention. I only found out about the little coda because I specifically asked what happened the next year; they didn’t decide to share that little fact in the larger meeting. It brings together everything—the waste, the stupidity, the lack of foresight, the inability to see cause and effect, the massive importance put on frivolous crap, and the way communities tear down their best members. Here’s the takeaway: nobody who wasn’t white on that farm saw the connection between the yields, the currency they made, and the fertilizer. Nobody stopped to think, “Hey, we should buy more of this.” That’s the insanity of Africa. 200 pound children, blowing huge stacks of cash on magic charms while they grind out a subsistence livelihood on the border of the desert. This is already super long, and I could really go on and on about this subject. There are more stories—the myths of the African family, more stories of faux-communalism, stories about crazy African religion and politics, and so on. The long and short of it, though, is this: They’re not terrible people, they just shouldn’t be anywhere near us. Africa is, no shit, the Garden of Eden. It’s no surprise that the people living there are giant children. Despite tons of diseases and ferocious animals, they want for nothing. Trees growing fruit are everywhere. Every weed is edible. Before the Western-induced population bomb, I’m not even sure they even required agriculture to feed themselves. If—for whatever reason—we’re going to live a world where complete ethnic cleansing and colonization is off the table, just let them have their little paradise and leave us alone. They have absolutely nothing to offer us nor anything to gain by interaction with the West. They’re a people frozen in time from tens of thousands of years ago, and I have no trouble leaving them like that.

Most Serial Killers Are Black

Robert Hampton, American Renaissance, May 30, 2019

Earlier this month, a Kenyan illegal immigrant was charged with killing 11 elderly women in Texas. Forty-six-year-old healthcare worker Billy Chemirmir reportedly murdered women who were between the ages of 76 and 96 for their valuables by suffocating them with pillows. Authorities claim Mr. Chemirmir posed as a healthcare worker or repairman to get into the women's homes. He had worked as a home aide for many of the women he is charged with killing.

Mr. Chemirmir came to the U.S. on a tourist visa in 2002. He overstayed but was able to get a green card in 2007 after he married an American citizen. Mr. Chemirmir had a long criminal record before his arrest, but was never deported. Police are now reopening 750 other cases of old people who died alone.

It may turn out that Mr. Chemirmir is one of the worst serial killers—defined as someone who has killed two or more people on separate occasions—in American history. Yet, he doesn't fit the stereotype—he's black. Serial killers are supposed to be white. In fact, blacks are considerably more likely than whites to be serial killers.

According to a 2016 Radford University study, just 51.7 percent of all serial killers in America since 1900 have been white. Roughly 40 percent were black. The numbers have become more lopsided in recent decades. In the first half of this decade, 60 percent of serial killers were black, while only 30 percent were white. Blacks have been the outright majority of serial killers since 1990.

Whites have never been overrepresented among serial killers. The decade with the highest percentage of white serial killers was in the 1920s: Whites were 78 percent of mass murderers even when they were 90 percent of the population. The 1920s also saw blacks account for the lowest percentage of serial killers at 18 percent. At that time they were about 10 percent of the population.

America had the largest number of serial killers in the decade of the 1980s. Whites were 83 percent of the population, yet were only 53 percent of mass murderers. Blacks were just 11 percent of the population, but were nearly 37 percent of serial killers.

Over 67 percent of the victims of serial killers have been white, and 37 percent have been white women. Blacks are disproportionately overrepresented at 24 percent of victims.

The stereotype of the white serial killer is false. So is that of the white mass shooter; whites are underrepresented among mass shooters, and have been for years.

A possible reason why serial killers are thought to be predominantly white is that nearly all of the famous ones are white. Ted Bundy, John Wayne Gacy, Jeffrey Dahmer, the BTK Killer, and others have inspired books and films. Their trials were front-page news and their names live on. In fictional accounts of serial killers, such as Seven and Silence of the Lambs, the villain is almost always a white man, further reinforcing a false stereotype.

CRIME

Total Murders committed by blacks in 2011: 2925
 Total Murders committed by whites in 2011: 2823

White victims of black murderers: 448
 Black victims of white murderers: 193

Murdering rate for blacks 7.1 / 100,000
 Murdering rate for whites 1.1 / 100,000

Victimhood rate for blacks 6.7 / 100,000
 Victimhood rate for whites 1.3 / 100,000

Rate of black on black murder: 84% of all murders committed by blacks
 Rate of white on white murder: 93% of all murders committed by whites

Rate of black on white murder: 15% of all murders committed by blacks
 Rate of white on black murder: 6% of all murders committed by whites

Conclusions:
 Blacks are 7x more likely to murder than whites
 Blacks are 5x more likely to be murdered than whites
 Blacks are 2x more likely to murder a white than be murdered by a whites
 Blacks though representing 13% of the data set committed over 50% of the murders

Numbers are arrived at using rounded percentages. National Population was rounded to 13% Black, and 78% White. The 78% White includes Hispanics because that is how the FBI tracks murder statistics. Worth noting that this inflates white crime rates.

WELFARE

Demographic breakdown of America

Whites (not counting hispanics) are currently at 63.7% of the US population.

African-Americans: 12.6% of the US population.

Hispanics are at 16.3% of the US population.

Source: wikipedia, which has its own sources at the bottom.

Taking the current population of the US (2014 estimate is 317 493 212), that would give us:

White people: 202 243 176

African Americanas: 40 004 144

Hispanics: 51 751 393

Now, the number of people who receive food stamps (in 2012, according to US department of Agriculture): 46 609 000

Now, according to SNAP (<http://www.snaptohealth.org/snap/snap-frequently-asked-questions/>) the percentages are as follow (percentage of the total number of people on food stamps)

43% white people

33% african-americans

19% hispanic

Now, in terms of numbers that is:

White: 20,041,870

Blacks: 15,380,970

Hispanic: 8,855,710

So far so good, right?

Let's see what PERCENTAGE OF PEOPLE PER RACE are on food stamps:

Whites: 20,041,870 on food stamps out of 202,243,176 people. Gives 9.91%

Blacks: 15,380,970 on food stamps out of 40,004,144 people. Gives 38.45%

Hispanics: 8,855,710 on food stamps out of 51,751,393 people. Gives 17.11%

Give or take 2-3% due to SNAP statistics being about 2012 and US population estimate for 2014.

But the conclusion is pretty much:

9.91% OF WHITE(NON-HISPANIC) PEOPLE ARE ON FOOD STAMPS

17.11% OF HISPANICS ARE ON FOOD STAMPS.

38.45% OF BLACKS ARE ON FOOD STAMPS

38.45%? Thats more than 1 in 3 blacks vs whites at 1 in 10. More than 3 times more likey to be on stamps than whites.

facts are racist

'It's protein! It's good for you!' Man in a wheelchair, 33, who defecated during his trial for burglary and THREW it at the judge before eating the rest in front of a horrified Florida courtroom is acquitted on all charges

- Dorleans Philidor, 33, aimed the unsavory missile at Miami-Dade Circuit Judge Lisa Walsh during his trial for burglary Friday morning
- Thankfully for Walsh the excrement narrowly missed her, but the defendant's dirty protest prompted a frenzied evacuation from the courtroom
- The defendant had been sitting in a wheelchair to the right of Walsh until a bailiff suddenly called out to the Justice and urged her to run away
- Witnesses also say they watched on in horror moments later as Philidor appeared to eat some of the feces as officers worked to restrain him
- Jurors later returned a verdict of not guilty for burglary charges but Philidor will remain in custody as he is also facing a separate trial in a grand-theft auto case

A criminal trial was halted temporarily in Miami on Friday when a defendant defecated into his own hands and hurtled feces across a courtroom, just before closing arguments were set to commence.

Dorleans Philidor, 33, aimed the unsavory missile at Miami-Dade Circuit Judge Lisa Walsh during his burglary trial, yelling: 'It's protein! It's good for you,' according to witnesses.

Thankfully for Walsh the excrement narrowly missed, but the defendant's dirty protest prompted a frenzied evacuation from the courtroom with lawyers and the judge scrambling for the exit, as county police officer rushed to restrain Philidor.

The defendant had been sitting in a wheelchair to the right of Walsh until a bailiff suddenly called out to the Justice and urged her to seek shelter.

Black Privilege

Black privilege means you can commit 50%+ of the murders in the country, while being less than 13% of the population, and yet you are somehow the victim. When one realizes that almost all of the murders are committed by males, that percentage drops to 7%. When one excludes the babies, toddlers and children who are still too small to murder, that percentage drops to 5%. So 5% of the population commits 50% of the violent crime, and white males are still considered the problem?

Black privilege means you can commit hate crimes against whites, and not be charged for a hate crime.

Black privilege means that you can have 13 kids from multiple women, avoid child support, be arrested for criminal offenses 75 times, almost kill a cop, and still be regarded as a national hero. (Sam Dubose)

Black privilege means your race will be censored by the media when a black person commits a crime.

Black privilege means you can pull the "das rayciss" card every day and get away with it, even if what you're claiming is racist makes no sense, i.e. "dat ATM rayciss", "compudahs arr rayciss", "buss schedules dey rayciss".

Black privilege means you will get priority into top universities, law firms, and hospitals, based entirely on the color of your skin, even if your test scores are atrociously poor compared to the candidates you replaced.

Black privilege means you can be openly racist to other races but have no legal or social repercussions.

Black privilege means you can blame your poor life choices on American slavery of Africans that not a single person alive today remembers or took part in. Even though half of American slaves were Irish, and less than 1% of Whites in America owned slaves.

Black privilege means that can demand that others should include more blacks in movies, television and video games, while not having enough intelligence or initiative to make your own media.

Black privilege means you can complain about anything and get your way because they are afraid of the legal repercussions for being labelled 'racist'.

Black privilege means you can butcher the English language yet have academic professors pretend that it is cultural so you still get a passing grade.

Black privilege means "riots" became synonymous with "protests", but only when your race is involved.

Black privilege means your racism of whites will be completely overlooked.

Black privilege means you can be proud of your race without fear of being called a Black Supremacist.

Black privilege is benefitting from the institutionalized racism of Affirmative Action that secures you jobs, housing, and education at the expense of others who are more intelligent and more qualified.

Black privilege means you can be lazy and still keep your job.

Black privilege means you can fail school tests, constantly disrupt class, assault fellow students, and still receive a passing grade.

Black privilege means you can be awarded for accomplishing basic tasks.

Black privilege means you qualify for free housing, food stamps, health care and other welfare, even though there are whites with lower incomes who are denied these same services.

Man Cries as Court Convicts Him of Kidnapping, Raping and Murdering 81-Year-Old Woman

A defendant reportedly cried out in denial as a California jury found him guilty of kidnapping, raping and murdering an 81-year-old woman in 2012 last week.

Jonathan Jackson, 36, attacked and dragged El Cerrito resident Sun Yi Kwon into a secluded area in Richmond, where he raped and severely beat her in the early morning hours of Jan. 28, 2012.

Kwon, who was taking a morning walk at the time, died six months later after an episode of pneumonia, which prosecutors argued to have resulted from the attack.

Jackson was linked to the crime in 2016 after an investigation revealed that semen found on the scene contained his DNA.

During the trial, DeFerrari claimed that Jackson had been drinking at a cousin's home in Richmond the night before the crime. The 36-year-old then left the next morning "in a rage" after losing a confrontation with his cousin.

Jackson then came across Kwon, who was out on her daily morning walks and took out his frustration on her. He raped and beat her with his fists until he believed she was dead, DeFerrari added.

In his defense, Jackson argued that he was drunk and high on LSD the night before he found Kwon's partially nude, lifeless body. He then felt a random necrophilic urge to masturbate over her.

Ricksha Burns Accused of Shoving Vibrator Into 2-Year-Old Son's Anus

MATTHEW HENDLEY | MARCH 25, 2013 | 2:57PM

A Phoenix woman is accused of shoving a vibrator into her 2-year-old son's anus, and doctors told police that surgery will be required to remove it.

According to court documents obtained by New Times, 21-year-old Ricksha Burns called police Sunday, reporting that her son was bleeding from his anus.

Burns said she didn't know what happened.

She said she was at a park with her son, and while she was "looking at a text message for about 10 seconds," a boy she didn't know at the park did "something" to her son, according to the documents.

"She said she does not know what he did, but is sure he did something," a probable-cause statement says.

The boy was brought to Phoenix Children's Hospital, and doctors discovered that he has numerous bruises around his anus, a "hanger type" bruise on his hip, and yet another bruise on his neck.

Doctors also found an object lodged in his rectum, which appears to be "a vibrator or some other sex toy."

Police interviewed Burns, who still claimed that a teenage boy at a park did it, even though she "believes it is her vibrator," and police found the boy's blood on her shirt, according to court documents.

Phoenix Police Officer James Holmes says there was zero evidence that the boy was assaulted at the park.

Rhionna Nichols, 20, claimed to have shaken one-year-old Viston and hit him with a slipper when medics rushed to her Detroit home last Thursday.

But the child is understood to have been taken into intensive care with a fractured skull, collarbone, ribs and pelvis.

Police have not confirmed details after Viston died on Saturday but his family have revealed that Nichols allegedly flew into a rage over a fallen flat-screen TV and attacked the boy.

Nichols was charged with felony murder and first degree child abuse and torture on Monday in Wayne County.

'It's difficult to really know what to do right now just to think of the fact that I'll never be able to hold my nephew again the same way,' Viston's paternal aunt Kenya Stevenson told Fox.

'I can't imagine what my nephew had to go through.'

Pictures on social media showed the lifeless boy with tubes coming out of his body being held by a family member.

Never forget - The most brutal toll ever paid by burning the coal. Jessica Chambers was a beautiful, blonde haired young woman with kind blue eyes living in Mississippi who had just graduated high school. She was also a habitual coal burner. When she was 19 years old, she began dating a 29 year old black man by the name of Quinton Tellis. Jessica Chambers would not live to see her 20th birthday. On December 6th, 2014, while on a car ride with her boyfriend Quinton, he, in a fit of rage, forced lighter fluid down Jessica's throat and nasal cavity and then lit her on fire. By the time firemen found the burning vehicle and rescued her, she had severe burns on 98% of her body and was clinging to life. She was airlifted to a nearby hospital. Because her esophagus was so severely burned, they could not even insert an oxygen tube. She died roughly an hour later, in unimaginable, searing pain the entire time. Foolish, self destructive actions have consequences, but no one should ever, ever have to die that way. But you know, diversity is our strength and all that and race mixing dismantles white supremacy!

A crumbling marriage ended in a bloodbath when a deranged Harlem man decapitated his wife, slit the throat of their 5-year-old daughter and then hanged himself inside the family's once-happy home, police sources said Thursday.

Cops responding to a 911 call from the wife's worried brother forced their way inside the family's four-story brownstone Wednesday night only to discover a gore-spattered scene of unimaginable horror, the sources said.

Jennifer Schlecht, a former Peace Corps member currently working for the United Nations Foundation on international emergency responses, was found dead on the bathroom floor, her decapitated head in her lap inside the pricey building at W. 121st St. near Adam Clayton Powell Jr. Blvd., sources said.

Their young daughter was discovered in her bedroom with a gash so deep to her throat she was partially decapitated, sources said. Her 46-year-old father, Yonathan Tedla, was hanging nearby from a rope tied to her bedroom door, taking his own life after carving up his loved ones, cops said.

The 42-year-old slain woman's father, Kenneth Schlecht, told the Daily News the couple's marital strife began about five years ago after the birth of their child. Tedla, who was originally from Ethiopia, had recently threatened his wife if she went to court to dissolve their marriage.

KILL DEM WHITE MUDAFUCKAS

MUDSHARK

The following photo montages are of White women who became involved with blacks and paid the ultimate price for their stupidity. I can't entirely blame them, however, since media is continually filled with miscegenation in some kind of blatant attempt to brainwash the Aryan race into breeding itself out of existence.

These foolish White women were stabbed, slashed, shot, strangled, smothered, slugged, stomped, burned alive, and had their faces and heads bashed in by whatever hard object was convenient. It happened to them because the black animal went bonkers about something his low 'IQ brain' could not understand and so he had to murder "dat whyt bich" to prove he was still a man.

Of course, it is sometimes not enough that these foolish women get themselves murdered by their own stupidity. What is worse is when the violent apes run off and slaughter the woman's White friends and relatives, who are arguably innocent in her mudsharking foolishness.

Data from way back in 1985 revealed that White women are 1240% more likely to get murdered by a significant other who was black than one who was White. What is interesting is that the numbers of interracial white male/black female murders is practically nonexistent. Unfortunately, it is much worse today.

In the following images, it is important to note the poor quality of many of these shots (or no shots at all). That is because the traitorous media avoids as much as possible any coverage of black-on-white crimes, and people like me must do whatever they can, like enlarging tiny shots, using anonymous silhouettes, or pixelated screen captures of local news video. Many of these photos come from internet obituary sites, which for taste purposes, never mention just how the person met their untimely, violent end, though their names can be cross-referenced with the news reports.

You might have noticed when the reports these crimes, they often refrain from showing both the black criminal and the white victim in the same story. They greatly abbreviate the trial coverage and report as few gruesome facts of the case as possible. Sometimes they even white-wash the victim's race in a censored photo. All of these tactics are intentional for the purpose of preventing whites from realizing how murderous blacks are. Still, you can figure out the real deal by reading the local stories when you find them.

Whitewashing

The editor-in-chief of the Swedish tabloid Expressen has already admitted that the rumored practice of "White pixelization"—"the coloring of brown or black accused criminals that are made to look White in media pictures"—had been policy for years:

BRAINWASHED BY JEW MEDIA...
...MURDERED BY BLACK BOYFRIENDS AND HUSBANDS

vi-
to
in

You probably don't have a clue all this is going on, but blacks ciously murder White people ALL THE TIME. Please remember while scrolling down, that these are only a few of the White people killed by blacks in recent years (since the year 2000, go to the end for link to a few before). It is estimated be 1500 to 2400 per year, or over 103,000 White Americans to have been murdered by blacks since 1972. Think about this when they scream "black lives matter!"

Each of these White people had lives, friends, family and loved ones — just like you. They died painful, often incredibly brutal deaths at the hands of violent blacks and now rot the ground with barely a whisper in the media — a scurrilous, left-wing media that has long worked hard to keep us White people in the dark to the real-life mortal dangers of this criminal, totally uncaring race.*

NOTE: ALMOST ALL OF THE WOMEN BELOW ARE NOT MURDERED MUDSHARKS! These are just poor white victims whose only mistake was living in a nation that tries to integrate black animals with its people. Unfortunately for whites, they are the only people on this planet who are not allowed to have their own nation with their own people. Africans have nations which are allowed only Africans; jews get a nation with areas where only jews are allowed; asians have nations where only Asians are allowed, but not white nations. Whites are required to live next to these black apes, and as a result, they must pay for it with the lives of their children and women.

Some of these photos required some degree of effort, for instance, you can't even find any photos of the 1998 Amarillo killing of 3 White kids at a sleepover by a random black crazy who broke into the house (bottom right of the third panel down). Two of the shots were resurrected using techniques akin to server hacking. The other was from an obituary site.

I write all this because the media obviously cares nothing about White victims — if the perp is black or non-White "people of color." It really is us White people who are the victims and not the other way around.
